A MEET OF W.C.T.U.

WAS HELD WITH MRS. EDWARD HECKMAN ON TUESDAY AFTERNOON.

NATURE OF MEMORIAL SERVICE

It Was in Honor of Miss Frances E. Willard, Who Did a Truly Monumental Work in Behalf of Temperance.

The regular meeting of the local W. C. T. U. was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edward Heckman on East Seventh street. There were twenty-two members and three visitors present. Two new members were received into the union.

Owing to the illness and consequent absence of some who were to have taken part, the regular program was not carried out, but instead a memorial service was held in honor of Miss Frances E. Willard.

An excellent paper, sketching her life, was read by Mrs. Louis Hoffman.

Brief extracts relating to her life and work were read by Miss Emma Heckman, Mesdames Alspaugh, McVey, Morris, Whitney and Smith.

Mrs. Owen Brown, in a few well chosen words, paid a glowing tribute to the world renowned leader of the temperance cause from whose labors have sprung the 12,000 unions that today are striving to complete the work she so nobly began.

A pledge was made to the Frances Willard memorial fund.

Refreshments of sandwiches, coffee and cake were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Cotton, March 1st.

GUESTS PLAYED CARDS

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Hanpeter "At Home" Last Night.

Mr. and Mrs Nelson Hanpeter, the latter formerly Miss Hilda Katzer, entertained a company of friends at their home, on South Quincy avenue, last night, the affair being only a social gathering.

Various games, including cards, were played during the evening, after which refreshments were served, the guests departing at a late hour, voting the affair a pleasing success.

Those who attended were: Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Knipp, Misses Antonia Hugenschmidt, Mary, Selma and Laura Katzer, Amelia and Ida Lorsbach.

Nehemgar Club Tomorrow Night.

Prof. W. J. Hawkins, of the faculty of the State Normal school at Warrensburg, will read a paper entitled "The Man of Affairs and His Books" at tomorrow night's meeting of the Nehemgar club at the High School building.

Didn't See His Shadow.

The traditional groundhog ventured from its hole in the ground this morning, after hibernating for several weeks, and failing to see its shadow it remained out the entire day. According to the old saw, this means that the backbone of winter is broken and we will have an early spring. This is certainly cheering news, following on the heels of yesterday's magnificent democratic victory in the Sixth congressional district of Missouri.

COMETS

FIGHT WAS CLOSE

"DRYS" WON BY MAJORITY OF 67 VOTES AT WEBB CITY ON TUESDAY.

WAS TRULY A LIVELY CAMPAIGH

The Wets Hired Brass Bands and Automobiles, While the Prohibition Sympathizers Worked the Streets to Frazzle.

Webb City, Mo., Feb. 2.—The drys won by sixty-seven votes in yesterday's election for local option. Early in the day it looked like the wets would win by a sweeping majority, but when the miners began to vote the drys gained steadily. After 3 o'clock there were but 108 votes cast for the wets.

All day long the wets were working with automobiles and carriages carrying the miners to the polls to vote, while there were but few prohibition workers out in carriages, but women were on the streets urging the men to vote for the drys.

The election closed the liveliest campaign in the history of Webb City, which has been in progress since Rev. "Billy" Sunday began revivals in Joplin last month.

While Rev. Billy Sunday was conducting the campaign it looked like a dry county by a sweeping majority would be evident, but after the close of his revivals the anti-local option people became active and large sums of money are said to have been sent here by St. Louis and Kansas City breweries to help the campaign.

Women and children played a conspicuous part in yesterday's election, but the female contingent by no means was aligned with the local optionists.

Almost as many women wearing a red, white and blue ribbon, the emblem of the wets, were out as those wearing the white ribbon, the emblem of the drys.

There were parades of school children for both sides, shouting for either cause. Brass bands played all day at the expense of the wets.

A temporary injunction was issued by Judge Blair, in circuit court, Monday, to stop the enforcement of a part of the proclamation issued by Mayor McNee prohibiting the women and children and brass bands from parading the streets during the hours polls were open.

The part of the proclamation prohibiting the women from serving lunch to the dry voters, as was done in Joplin, and that no woman could be within a radius of 300 feet of the polls was still in force.

Carthage and the balance of Jasper county vote Thursday. Carthage will probably go wet, but the other towns will undoubtedly vote dry.

Mr. Bohon Operated Upon.

John Bohon, a retired farmer of near Smithton, was operated upon by Dr. S. G. Kelly at apartments at the Blackman hotel this afternoon for mastoids, and is getting along nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Bohon arrived here last evening. The former is a brother-in-law of Major William Beck.

PLAY IS THRILLING

THE TITLE IS "MADAME X." AND IT WILL HAVE AMERICAN PREMIERE TONIGHT.

DRINKING OF ETHER ON THE STAGE

Drama Produced a Great Sensation in the French Capital—Jane Harding to Play the Part of "Jacqueline."

New York, Feb. 2.—Ravages due to ether drinking, now a popular vice in Paris, are depicted in a realistic manner in Alexander Bissom's new play, "Madame X," which will have its American premiere tonight.

The drama produced a great sensation in the French capital. Jane Harding will play the part of Jacqueline in the American production.

Jacqueline is the wife of a Parisian attorney who deserts her husband and little boy. After twenty years of dissipation she takes up ether drinking to drown her woes.

Her companion, Loraque, conspires to blackmail her husband. She kills Laroque to keep him from betraying her identity to her son, now an attorney.

Her son defends her on her trial and her wronged husband is president of the court, but neither recognizes her.

After the trial the son learns his client is his mother, and she dies as husband and son forgive her.

Social Session Postponed.

Owing to the death of Henry Butler, who passed away this afternoon, the social session which was to have been given tomorrow night by Sedalia lodge of Elks, has been postponed indefinitely.

DEAL COMPLETED

STOCKHOLDERS OF THE IRON MOUNTAIN RAILWAY MEET IN ST. LOUIS TODAY.

VOTED $25,000,000 BOND ISSUE

All of the Bonds Will Be Taken By the Missouri Pacific, Which Owns Nearly All the Iron Mountain Stock.

St. Louis, Feb. 2.—Stockholders of the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern Railway company, a Gould property with 2,600 miles of lines in the southwest, met here here today and voted an improvement gold bond issue of $25,000,000, to increase the capital of the company from $130,000,000 to $190,000,000 and to take over the assets of all but two or three of its subsidiaries.

All of the bonds authorized will be taken by the Missouri Pacific, which owns nearly all the Iron Mountain stock, and with a deposited indenture securing that company's recent authorization of $175,000,000 first mortgage and refunding convertibles.

The increase of Iron Mountain's capitalization is necessitated by reason of the fact that the laws of Missouri do not permit a corporation chartered under its laws to incur an indebtedness greater than its capital.

BIG CEREAL MILLS

THEY ARE TO MERGE AND TAKE OVER THE BREAKFAST FOOD CONCERNS.

SEVEN BIG FIRMS IN THE DEAL

Smaller White Flour Plants May Be Included, Says Promoter of Scheme of Huge Proportions.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 2.—The reported consolidation of all cereal manufacturing concerns of Minneapolis, one in Battle Creek, Mich., two in Chicago and some in Iowa in a new $1,000,000 corporation, to handle the output of these breakfast food concerns, was partially confirmed yesterday by Thomas W. Hicks, who has been promoting the deal here. Mr. Hicks added that he could not discuss the details, but would make a statement in a few days.

The Minneapolis companies absorbed in the merger are the Northwestern Cereal corporation, Minneapolis Cereal company, incorporated, Fruen Wheat Food and Milling company and the Minne-Paul Cereal and Milling company.

Other companies already included, it is said, are the Malta-Vita Food company, of Battle Creek, Mich.; the Pettijohn Pure Food company and the Iowa plants of the United Cereal company, of Chicago.

In addition to the above white flour mills in towns adjacent to Minneapolis will be merged into the new companies. Their names are not announced.

The assenting companies, it is said, will receive stock in the new corporation, dollar for dollar, of preferred stock on the appraised valuation, and bonus of common stock for established business and trademarks.

PREACHERESS IS CHOSEN

Be Heard at First Congregational Church Sunday Night.

A great deal of interest has been manifested in the service to be conducted by the ladies of the First Congregational church next Sunday night. The great question has been, "Who will be the preacheress?"

At a meeting of the committee on the program the wife of the pastor, Mrs. Harold Cooper, was selected, owing to her having had some experience along this line.

At a contest held in Kentucky, when contestants from the states of Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky, entered, Mrs. Cooper was awarded the prize for her ability as a public speaker, and many times has she taken the regular church service whenever the minister was absent.

She will read the sermon in connection with the lantern slides, which will be projected upon the screen.

CHAMP CLARK SAYS RESULT IN SIXTH WILL START PARTY TOWARD SUCCESS.

SENATOR STONE IS ENTHUSIASTIC

The Vote Cast for Dickinson Shows the Trend of Political Sentiment in Missouri, Says Congressman Lloyd.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 2.—In Washington the result of the election in the Sixth Missouri congressional district yesterday, which gives Mr. Dickinson, the democratic candidate, a majority over his republican opponent in excess of the majority by which Judge De Armond carried the district at the last election, is considered very significant.

The tariff principally and the republican administrative polices in general were at stake, according to statements made by republican leaders here and elsewhere, and these have been repudiated by the voters. The adminisration had sent a cabinet officer, Secretary Nagel, to rally the voters to Taft.

It is believed here that the effect will reach to the general elections this fall and will be widespread.

Representative Champ Clark, the minority leader, was delighted when told the news by a correspondent.

"This election, in this single congresional district," he said, "ought to result in the addition of from fifteen to twenty members to the democratic side in the next congress. It will start the democrats to action everywhere. It will cause them to try to carry not only districts which are regarded as close, but also districts which are looked upon as safe by the republicans, though held by small majorities. To my mind it is most significant. I want to congratulate the whole crowd out there."

Senator Stone said:

"The signal victory of Mr. Dickinson indicates that the trend of political sentiment in Missouri is democratic. His majority is far greater than ever attained by Judge De Armond, who always polled the full democratic vote and more. I congratulate the democracy of the Sixth district, and Mr. Dickinson particularly, upon having pointed the way to a great democratic triumph in 1910 the country over.'

"It is a splendid victory for Mr. Dickinson and the democrats," said Representative James T. Lloyd of Missouri, chairman of the democratic congressional committee. "The eyes of the country were on the Sixth district. The result is the straw in the political wind which shows the drift of opinion. The normal democratic majority has been increased more then really was expected. The Payne tariff has been repudiated and the republican policies discredited. It signifies democratic victory in the congressional elections this fall."

RECOVERED 33 BODIES

It Will Be Many Hours Before Balance of Mine Victims Are Found.

Drakesboro, Ky., Feb. 2.—Heroic as have been the efforts of scores of rescuers throughout the night, it is believed that it will be many hours before the Browder mine, near here, yields the bodies of the last of the men whose lives were snuffed out in the explosioon yesterday. Early today thirty-three bodies had been recovered. Among the killed was Matt Allen, police judge of Drakesboro, aged fifty, who leaves a wife and six children.

HIGH SCHOOL EXERCISES

A Talk By the Rev. Harold Cooper This Morning.

The weekly exercises at the High school were conducted by the Rev. Harold Cooper, pastor of the First Congregational church, who, after the opening prayer and songs, gave a very interesting and instructive talk on the folly of seeking an easy snap in life.

The talk was appreciated to the fullest by both faculty and students.

This was followed by two selections on the mandolin and guitar by the Misses Kuhn and their sister, Mrs. Robinson.

WHAT A CHANGE IS THIS?

The result of the special election in the Sixth congressional district yesterday is a sure indication of the state of mind of the country at large at the present time.

By an unheard-of and unthought-of majority of nearly 4,000, C. C. Dickinson, democrat, was elected against Paul E. Griffith, a standpat-Aldrich-Cannon republican, after a campaign as earnest and thorough as was ever conducted in this country.

The entire republican party, from President Taft down, was intensely interested in the race.

Puffed up with their victory of 1908, the leaders of the party announced from the house tops that this election would be a barometer, showing how the country stands on the tariff, and on the Taft-Cannon-Aldrich-Ballinger combination, and then proceeded to pour into the district a stream of campaign funds, and to send to every cross-roads party spellbinders, to an extent never bfore known in a Missouri congressional election.

Governor Hadley tore himself loose from his onerous duties at Jefferson City and in an attempt to win votes for Grifith inaugurated a campaign of personal vilification as uncalled for as it was ungenerous and untrue.

Secretary of Commerce Nagel came from Washington and as the personal representative of the president pleaded from the stump for a republican victory. Orators from St. Louis, from Kansas City, from everywhere, hurried to the battlefield and joined in the fray. It was a money fest, a brain-fest and a talk-fest; everything brought into line and nothing omitted that could in the slightest degree aid in the winning of the district.

And sure enough, the result was a barometer. A barometer of what?

A barometer of how the people feel toward Taft, of how they feel toward Aldrich, toward Cannon, toward Ballinger, and last, but not least, of their feelings toward Hadley, a governor who was elected by a campaign of falsehood as infamous as was ever known in the history of the nation.

A barometer, indeed, but a barometer that shows the people have awakened, that they are thinking, that no longer will they believe false statements, and stand supinely by while an administration violates its every pledge to the people, laughs in the face of public opinion and saddles upon the country a robber tariff so infamous that it calls a protest even from republican congressmen, who rather than acquiesce in so monstrous an iniquity forfeit their party standing and cut themselves off from party favors that would naturally come to them as republican representatives.

DeArmond, well beloved as he always was by his people, a congressman of national fame, brilliant and great, was elected by only 2,160 votes in November, 1908, with no fight of any moment made against him, and now, in February, 1910, after not quite a year of Taft rule, a comparatively unknown democrat, against the most tremendous opposition, is chosen by 3,783.

"What a change is this, my countrymen?" And what a brilliant promise of better things for the future, of the coming of the people into that which is their own, of the dawning of the day when justice and right shall prevail, God reign and the government at Washington live by and for the people.

THE POSTAL GRAFT.

The report of the postmaster general of Canada is interesting and illuminating, in view of the efforts of President Taft and Postmaster General Hitchcock to blame the United States postal deficit upon newspaper and magazine publishers.

Canada is a country of vast area and meager population and it should naturally cost a great deal more proportionally to transport newspapers or any other class of mail in the Dominion than it does in the United States. But there is no postal deficit in Canada. On the contrary, the surplus for the year was $809,237.53. Furthermore, the second class rate has been reduced from one-half a cent a pound to one-fourth of a cent a pound—just one-quarter of the rate periodicals in the United States are paying, and which rate the president decries as a "subsidy" to the publishers.

And, in addition to this, newspapers are carried in the Canadian mails free for a distance not exceeding forty miles of the place of publication.

The Canadian postmaster general's report is an indictment of the graft and corruption rampant in the postal affairs of this country. If newspapers can be carried by the government profitably for a quarter of a cent a pound in sparsely settled Canada, why should it cost nine cents a pound to carry the same class of mail in the United States, as the president and his postmaster general maintain is the cost of the service in this country?

IT WAS A FANTASTIC NOTION.

Some imaginative newspaper correspondent at Washington became imbued with a wild idea the other day that the administration was really going to do something to relieve the common people who are suffering from the exactions of the trusts.

How such a wholly fantastic notion ever gained currency is a mystery, but it did, and the newspapers published glowing forecasts of a Taft trust-busting crusade. The trust heads and Wall street stock manipulators were annoyed exceedingly by the publication of such foolishness. So Mr. James J. Hill was sent to the White House. He had a brief interview with Mr. Taft, at the conclusion of which the president issued a statement, declaring that the "sensational statements" published in the newspapers are unauthorized and without foundation, and there will be no "indiscriminate prosecution of important industries."

The "important industries" may therefore continue in the pleasant pastime of picking the people's pockets, with renewed assurances of distinguished consideration from the great man at Washington.

Tuesday, Jan. 25, was "Bobbie" Burns' birthday. It was 151 years ago that Scotland's greatest bard opened his eyes to the lowly surroundings of his father's home. He was a child of poverty and unremitting toil, and as a man suffered much of wretchedness and squalor. While he lived the beauty of his immortal verse was recognized by but few, and not until long after his death did the world recognize the genius that had spent a few years with it. But the songs of "Bobbie" Burns will continue to warm the hearts of men and women for all time to come, and his memory will not die.

There will be a great luff on the Congo when a certain fanual naturalist hears of Judge Hough's decision.

The "man higher up" is always just out of reach.

Deafness cannot be cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

THE THIRD HOUSE

I notice in last night's Democrat-Sentinel that some well meaning friend mentions my name in connection with the democratic nomination for mayor this spring. I don't know who did this but like that fellow. Only one thing he neglected to mention. It is usual for men in my line of business to come through the winter lean and hungry. This has been a long, hard winter and I should be in fine racing form. If mayors were only a winter job I should have lots of time to devote to the office, then, too, the salary would help to keep down expenses. Heretofore I have been an extremely busy man, during more than half of the year, but surely a soda water plant might run itself for a year or two, for, of course, I would be re-elected.

This was a well worded article, and "Citizen" is not going to have to prove his assertions, as I admit them. "I do not know a cleaner, better man in the city"—cleanliness goes with my business—my goodness is acquired recently. "As honest as the day is long, his word is as good as his bond"—have to pay up or quit—never could lie and get away with it.

"Has lived in Sedalia since boyhood"—I like the place.

"He also has the courage of his convictions"—if Citizen means stubborn, bull-headed—my best friends will agree with him.

"He is one of the plain people"—if Citizen means just an ordinary man, not only my friends but all of my relations will agree with him.

"There would be neither wet nor dry"—a condition devoutly to be wished.

I thank "Citizen" for the kindly mention of my father. I believe all who knew him will agree that he is an honorable man. Yet when I run for mayor it will not be as my father's son. As I near conclusion, Mr. Editor, I will confess to you that I have long harbored a mayoralty bee, but as I have never mentioned this except in strictest confidence to my wife, I cannot imagine how it could have gotten out. However, were she not so far above suspicion that mention of my bank roll might have caused me to suspect her with having inspired this article.

You would not suspect, Mr. Editor, how this whole matter stirred me up. Last night, after taking a good long walk, and going to the moving picture show, to quiet my nerves, I retired and was soon fast asleep, not for long, however, as I awoke with dreams of piloting airships and city governments until, try as I would, I could not go back to sleep till I had arisen in the wee sma' hours in the cold to write this reply, after which I returned to bed and slept long and soundly.

Mr. Citizen, I thank you.

Respectfully,
WILL J. CRAWFORD.

Mr. Editor: In your Brooklyn correspondence of Jan. 30, Pastor Chas. T. Russsell is quoted as saying some things about the Lutheran church. We would not ask for this word were it not that a flagrant misrepresentation appears with respect to Luther's position and that of the church of the Reformation in relation to the Eucharist.

First, permit me to say that the pastor of the Brooklyn tabernacle in speaking of the federation of the denominations places himself squarely on Lutheran territory—in fact carries the whole test of denominations over on safe ground when he concludes that "Lutherans would not be required to sacrifice anything." He admits not only "their (Lutherans) tenacity for the word of God," but that during all these generations the Lutheran church has occupied true scriptural ground.

We quote: "Summing up then we find that Lutherans would have nothing to lose by federation, nothing to surrender except a little pride." The fact that the Lutheran adheres to the pure teaching of the Word of God, we have, no doubt, does infuse into him a little pride—a considerable amount of it in fact. And just why the Rev. Mr. Russell wishes the Lutheran to surrender pride thus begotten we are unable to see.

As to the misrepresentation: "Nothing along these lines need to be abandoned. Even Luther's plea of consubstantiation in the Eucharist may be held without objection. Either the noted Brooklyn divine is careless in his handling of the truth, or ignorant of the true position of the Lutheran church in regard to this matter. We do not remember to have seen, read or heard from any reliable source that Luther either believed in consubstantiation or at any time ever plead for it. There are cheap cyclopedias and books which assert that the Lutheran church adheres to consubstantiation—and occasionally a learned scholar who has given no time to Reformation history. This view we might say was held by John of Paris and Rupert. But the Lutheran church does not today, never did, nor never will teach consubstantiation, for such belief has no basis in God's word. A literal acceptance of Jesus' words is all we claim. We believe and teach a sacramental conjunction—a mystical mediating relation of the natural (bread and wine) to the spiritual (body and blood), each unchanged and without substantial conjunction.

Consubstantiation does not nearly approach the scriptural teaching as set forth by the Lutheran church.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for much sickness and suffering, therefore, if kidney trouble is permitted to continue, serious results are most likely to follow. Your other organs may need attention, but your kidneys most, because they do most and should have attention first. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. A trial will convince you of its great merit.

The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest because its remarkable health restoring properties have been proven in thousands of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best.

Home of Swamp-Root.

Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—it you do you will be disappointed.

AN OLD-TIME PRESCRIPTION

in a modern product. From time immemorial sage and sulphur have been used for hair and scalp. Almost every one knows of the value of such a combination for darkening the hair and making it grow. In olden times the only way to get a hair tonic of this sort was to brew it in the home fireplace, a method which was tiresome and not always satisfactory. Nowadays almost every up-to-date druggist can supply his patrons with a ready to use product, skillfully compounded in perfectly equipped laboratories. Such a preparation is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, which is sold by all leading druggists for 50c and $1.00 a bottle, or which is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

MUCO-SOLVENT—WHAT IT IS AND WHAT IT DOES

It had its origin in the private formula of a physician of a large practice, who did not lose a case of diphtheria in twenty years.

As a specific for preventing and arresting the development of CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH, DIPHTHERIA, COUGHS, COLDS AND MEASLES, it has never been equaled. In every community where MUCO-SOLVENT has been adopted it arrested fatalities and quickly stamped out the epidemics, many of which were, before its adoption, among the most serious ever recorded. MUCO-SOLVENT wins its victories by destroying the germs and microbes of disease.

DICKINSON CHOSEN

ELECTED TO CONGRESS IN THE SIXTH DISTRICT BY A BIG MAJORITY.

GREAT DAY FOR THE DEMOCRACY

It Sounded the Death Knell of "Bill" Taft, "Uncle Joe" Cannon, and Means That the Robber Tariff Will Have to Go.

Clinton, Mo., Feb. 2.—Former State Senator Clement Cabell Dickinson, of Clinton, was elected yesterday as the successor of the late Congressman David A. DeArmond, by a majority of 3,783 over Phil S. Griffith, of Greenville, his republican opponent. The democratic majority is the largest ever recorded in the Sixth district.

Mr. Dickinson received 1,623 more votes than did Mr. DeArmond in 1908, indicating that about 800 republicans voted for him. It is estimated that about 30,000 votes, or 90 per cent of the total in the district, were polled.

The result is believed by democratic leaders to portend republican disaster in the election next November and to insure the overthrow of the Cannon regime in the next national congress.

Some of the more enthusiastic advance the opinion that the democratic gains registered yesterday are a rebuke to President Taft for his indorsement of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law and other unpopular measures.

Dickinson carried his home township, which includes his home city of Clinton, by 429, which is 338 more than DeArmond received here two years ago. The difference is said to represent the number of republicans who voted for their fellow townsman.

Henry county's big majority of 1,302 resulted from a democratic vote of 90 per cent and a republican vote of 5 per cent for Dickinson. The democratic vote in the other counties is estimated at 90 per cent of the total cast for Bryan in 1908, and the republican vote 75 per cent of the total cast for Taft in the district. It is figured that the total vote cast for Dickinson and Griffith was 30,469.

Griffith carried his home county (Dade) by only 253, which is 231 less than the republican majority in 1908.

Cedar county, which went republican by 411 two years ago, was the only other county carried by Griffith, and here a republican loss of 225 was also noted.

Dickinson's home county (Henry) went for him by 1,302, which is 93 more than Bryan got in 1896, heretofore the banner democratic majority in the county.

Cass county shows a gain for the democrats of 180 over the figures of two years ago. This is considered particularly significant, because it was in Pleasant Hill, in Cass county, that Governor Hadley sought to disrupt the democrats by an attack upon Senator Stone and indirectly upon Mr. Dickinson.

Johnson county followed the other democratic counties, with a gain of 173 over 1908, while St. Clair, where the republicans made a vigorous fight, increased its democratic majority by 205.

Even Appleton City, where the republican congressional headquarters were located, was carried by the democratic by 7 votes. Normally, that town is republican.

Enthusiasm is rampant throughout the district among democrats and progressive republicans. The significance of the result is appreciated by all, and cheering crowds are parading the streets in all of the towns of the district.

Encouragement is given to the democrats to strike for a greater victory next fall by the anti-high tariff sentiment expressed by the Dickinson majorities in the country districts as well as the thickly settled centers.

The republican supporters who campaigned the district, including Secretary Nagel, of President Taft's cabinet, argued artfully in their efforts to land the farmer vote. That the farmers were not deceived was shown by the records from the rural polling places.

High prices of farm products and other necessities were advanced by Secretary Nagel as an indication of prosperity under a high protective tariff, The farmers thought otherwise.

They also pleaded for an indorsement of the Taft policies. The democratic speakers, on the other hand, denounced the tariff law, the republican party's broken pledges for revision downward, the republican trend toward centralization of power in the national government, and the disregard of the rights of the state, and last, but not least, Cannonism and all that the term implies.

Griffith's defeat was a hard blow to Cannon. The republican nominee ran on an out and out republican high tariff platform. He boasted of his allegiance to "Uncle Joe" and of his indorsement of the Taft administration, and repudiated the republican progressives in congress, particularly Victor Murdock, of Kansas, leader of the house insurgents.

Mr. Dickinson said last night he expected to take his seat in congress on next Monday.

News of his election was wired to President Taft by a republican leader last night.

Pluralities of the two candidates in the several counties of the district were as follows:

COUNTIES	1910 DICKINSON (Dem.)	1910 GRIFFITH (Rep.)	1908 DeARMOND (Dem.)	1908 ATKESON (Rep.)

TOPIC OF PRESENT IMPORTANCE

Personal health is and should be one of the greatest considerations of life, and as so many local people are praising the new remedy, Root Juice, it is not surprising that so many of the afflicted people of this county are so eager to talk about it and get all of the information they can in relation to the many remarkable cures it has made and is making. It invariably proves a great and agreeable surprise to weak, nervous, dyspeptic, constipated people, for after using it for a short while the soothing, healing and tonic properties of the wonderful remedy removes irritated and sore conditions from the linings of the stomach, bowels and bladder, heals and strengthens the liver and kidneys to healthy action, resulting in a good appetite, food well digested, bowels regular, good, rich blood, free from rheumatic poison, and it soon nourishes and strengthens the whole nervous system. The people at the drug store are proud of the wonderful merits of Root Juice, and gladly tell all interested of much of the great good it is doing here.—Wilcox's drug store.

AMUSEMENTS

"The White Squaw."

After many years of study and travel, D. M. Clarke has written a play which is instructive as well as virtually interesting, he has depicted characters that are new to the stage. The love theme which is the all-absorbing factor in most successful plays, is vital. The comedy is a part of the play and not dragged in by way of relief. The comedy and sentiment are well blended. And one should not miss seeing this really excellent play, which will be presented at Wood's opera house Thursday evening, February 3.

Scene in "The White Squaw at Wood's Opera House Thursday Evening.

STOMACH LIVER LUNGS

Each of the chief organs of the body is a link in the Chain of Life. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link, the body no stronger than its weakest organ. If there is weakness of stomach, liver or lungs, there is a weak link in the chain of life which may snap at any time. Often this so-called "weakness" is caused by lack of nutrition, the result of weakness or disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases and weaknesses of the stomach and its allied organs are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the weak or diseased stomach is cured, diseases of other organs which seem remote from the stomach but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, are cured also.

The strong man has a strong stomach. Take the above recommended "Discovery" and you may have a strong stomach and a strong body.

GIVEN AWAY.—Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, new revised Edition, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Story of 'The Third Degree'

Charles Klein's Latest Dramatic Success

By Ruth Crosby Dimmick

Theatergoers who were fortunate enough to see Charles Klain's great drama, "The Lion and the Mouse," will be overly anxious to witness his latest success, "The Third Degree." The following story of "The Third Degree is quite interesting, inasmuch as it is a compete story of the dramatist's work:

The first act takes place in Robert Underwood's art studio in Fifth avenue, New York City. It is evening, and Underwood, a pale, nervous man of about 38, is alone when Mr. Bennington is announced over the telephone. "Send him up," Underwood calls, and hanging up the receiver, he throws away his cigarette and picks up a newspaper, which he carelessly scans, awaiting Bennington's arrival.

"This is a surprise," Underwood declares when his guest enters, but the latter, waving formalities, says his time is short and his mission a delicate one. He has come to warn Underwood that the firm employing him has learned that he has sold many of their valuable art objects, for which they have received nothing, and are now about to ask a return of their property.

At first Underwood tries to deny, but seeing he is trapped, begs for time.

"They're coming tomorrow. I promised to let you know, and I can do no more," Bennington answers.

In a moment the telephone rings, and Underwood goes to th receiver. "I can't see him. Tell him I am—" But he leaves the sentence unfinished to detain Bennington, who is about to leave.

"It's only that infernal nuisance Howard Jeffries," Underwood announces, and in another moment the nuisance, a young fellow of about 25, evidently slightly under the influence of liquor makes his appearance, and Bennington soon takes his leave.

Young Jeffries is profuse with his apologies for "butting in," and wants to know of Underwood why he is so downcast. "Wait till you hear my hard luck story; that'll cheer you up," he says. It quickly develops that the boy is out of money and has come to borrow, and reminds Underwood of the 250 bucks he loaned him.

"When my family kicked me out for marrying the finest girl that ever lived my father cut me off with a piking allowance, which I told him to put in the church plate," Howard rambles on, as he helps himself to the decanter. He admits that he has the independence he sought, but is broke and wants to borrow a couple of thousand. Underwood advises his friend to go home and see his father.

Howard—After being turned out, like a dog, with a young wife on my hands—not much, no; I've injured their pride. You know father married a second time, loaded me down with a young step-mother, and I have followed suit.

Underwood—Yes, I know.

Howard—She's all right, but she's so confoundedly—you know her. Say, didn't you and she—wasn't there some sort of an engagement once? Seems to me I—

Underwood doesn't care to talk about the matter, and asks Howard if he can not postpone his visit, but the boy simply takes another drink and continues talking. He declares he has married the finest little woman in the world; she is a little crude, but the only thing he objects to is that she insists on going back to work, and he won't allow that. He, by the way, has attempted several things himself unsuccessfully.

Underwood tries to tell Howard he is broke and again urges him to go to his father, who will relent. Jeffries, sr., has too much brains and too little heart, his son thinks, for any chance of relenting.

"My God, how obstinate that man is," he drawls, drowsily, as he throws one foot over the arm of the couch on which he is sitting. "Gee, but I've made a mess of things, haven't I," he muses.

Underwood—You've made a mess of your life, but you have some measure of happiness, at least; you married the woman you loved. The woman I wanted married some one else—damn him!

Howard—Say, old man, I didn't come here to hear a hard luck story. I came to tell one. If you can't be cheerful, don't say anything—shut up!

And with this Jeffries falls over on the couch asleep. Again the telephone rings, and Underwood, answering it, learn that a lady is calling, and leaving word for her to come up, he returns to Howard, whom he tries to arouse, but finding the boy dead to the world, he draws a screen about the couch, just as Mrs. Jeffries, sr., enters.

It seems that she has called in answer to a note from him, in which he threatens to kill himself unless she continues to be his friend. She upbraids him for writing to her, and he reminds her that when she broke her engagement with him she did not destroy his love for her. She broke the engagement, she tells him, because she found he was deceiving her as he had decived others, and adds that he is as incapable of disinterested friendship as he is of common honesty. Then she asks him if he means to carry out his threat.

Underwood—If my life has no interest for you, why should you care?

Mrs. Jeffries—But you accuse me of being the cause—of driving you to your death. I, who have been your friend in spite of your dishonesty. Oh, it is despicable, ungrateful, and, above all, it's untrue.

He asks why she had come to see him. She dreads the shame of having her name connected with that of a man who would take his own life, she tells him, and he taunts her with pride. She reminds him of what her husband has suffered through his son's marriage with a saloon keeper's daughter, and asks if he would add to their disgrace.

But why should he consider her husband's feelings, who did not consider him when he married her? They argue further, but reach no satisfactory conclusion. She declares she will not recognize him longer among her friends that he may cheat and rob them.

"If you desert me now," he threatens, "you'll be sorry till the day of your death."

Telling him she does not believe a man who is coward enough to write the letter he did has courage to carry out his threat, Mrs. Jeffries says good night and leaves the studio. When she is gone Underwood pauses for a moment, then going to the door and locking it, puts the key in his pocket, draws the curtain across the window, turns off the lights as he disappears through a door leading into an adjoining room. In another moment a shot is heard—then silence.

TABLE EXPENSE

Is a mighty important question in every household—it's one that needs serious thought.

Most things bought for the house last a long time, and it usually pays to look at the quality more than the price.

In groceries, as in the other things, quality counts as much as price. This can easily be proven, by close watch upon the table expense for a month.

Good grades of groceries make little waste, and the waste is worth more consideration than an occasional extra penny or two.

Here is a selection of staple goods, at prices that are actual economy.

PROF. BROTERSON, Clairvoyant and Palmist

Located 213 East Second street, first door east of Huckins hotel. Open Thursday at 10 a. m. Very quiet and private.

This is not due to catch business or the riffraff, but to show those who have money to spend where to go for reliable information.

The best citizens have come, those who have never visited a clairvoyant before. Why? Because I intelligently unravel their troubles. I see all, I tell all, and never ask a question; but you must come to me fair minded and honest, or I cannot help you; the very nature of my profession admits of no challenge contest. Be passive and I will tell your innermost soul. What is your business, what you earn and prospects of an increase of business, who your employer is, and how you rate with him, who of your employers is honest and who is dishonest with you. I give the names of those who love you, who are true, and those who are false. I locate missing persons, papers and furnish evidence. I give the names of your rivals, enemies and friends. I find what causes your bad luck and remove spells, hindrances, stumbling blocks and hurts. I stop evil habits, and your enemies' designs, locating and telling how to heal all diseases.

About marriage, I will tell you the one who is sincere and the one who is simply fooling you. I can and do effect reconciliations, reunite the separated and cause happy marriage. You who are now in sorrow, can't you look back and see how all might have been avoided by proper information as to who was secretly doing you harm? Perhaps it is not too late. Come and see me and I will help you to frustrate your enemies, rivals, or the efforts to ruin your business.

If you are going to consult a clairvoyant why not see the best? I am a specialist in mental impressions. Every person respects me because of my sincerity. I can describe the place where you searched for hidden treasure and tell you what you may expect about it; locate coal, mineral, oil or gas on lands miles away.

If you are the party interested, come and see me candidly, and let me fall in sympathy with your mind.

I wonder if you consider my terms fair, square and honest. If so, consult me at once.

A PRIVATE SANITARIUM

Dr. Casto Medical Company Leases Bothwell Property on Lamine Avenue.

The Bothwell property, just across from the court house, east, on Lamine avenue, has been leased by the Dr. Casto Medical Co. The building, which contains sixteen rooms, will be converted into a private sanitarium, and alterations will be begun soon toward fitting it up for this purpose.

Dr. Casto, when seen about the proposition today, confirmed the deal and added that the premises would be occupied as soon as the improvements and additions could be built. He said such an institution was and has been needed for a long time, as the phenomenal growth of the Dr. Casto Medical Co., and especially on account of the many patients from a distance, who come to Sedalia for treatment, was such as to make it absolutely necessary that they have a place other than private homes and hotels to stay while undergoing treatment here. Such an arrangement is bound to work to the advantage of both patients and the company.

"The sanitarium will be used exclusively for our patients," continued Dr. Casto, "and I feel sure the fame of the institution will spread beyond the field it is now so well known in."

The present offices of the company will be maintained in conjunction with the sanitarium, where patients in Sedalia and vicinity will be treated.

This concern, since Dr. Casto's association with it, has had a most remarkable growth, and brings thousands of dollars to Sedalia every year.

TO MOVE TO ST. LOUIS

The Worrell Manufacturing Co. Soon to Leave Sedalia.

The Worrell Manufacturing company, employing thirty people, of which corporation J. H. Rodes is president and A. S. Hickerson general manager, will move to St. Louis at an early date.

The corporation has secured a five-year lease on a four-story building at 212 North Main street in that city, which they will occupy.

The change has been under consideration some time, being definitely decided on several days ago.

All of the corporation's employes will move to St. Louis when the change is made.

SALOON THOUGHT NO. 306.

It seems beyond all imagination that a man will invest his money in property, and then WILLFULLY hammer its valuation and rental income down by petitioning a saloon to join it, or have it in the same block.

But one reason can be advanced, simply failure to investigate property values NOT so situated.

R. A. Crippen, Mgr Central Dry Goods Co., Hillsdale, Mich.—"Drunkenness and lawlessness are practically unknown. Business blocks of ten or twelve stores which formerly had a saloon or two, and several vacant places, are now all occupied by profitable business places, and realizing better rents than formerly. One business block in particular of eight stores, formerly known as 'Whisky Row,' has doubled in valuations as well as income in the last seven months.

"Business has improved, as evidenced by all our stores being occupied. Collections are better than ever before, banks report a gradual but steady increase of small, but regular deposits.

"Unquestionably it is for the best interests of the county both from a social and business standpoint that local option remains in force.

BEST HAIR TONIC

All Over America the News of the Marvelous Dandruff Cures of Parisian Sage Has Spread.

A few years ago there was introduced into America a cure for dandruff, falling hair and all scalp diseases.

News of the quick action of this wonderful invigorator spread rapidly.

And today without any sensational or untrue advertising, Parisian Sage is used extensively in almost every town in America. And what has produced this great demand? Simply this: Parisian Sage does just what we are telling the readers of the Democrat-Sentinel it will do.

We claim, and we back our claim with the W. E. Bard Drug Co.'s money back guarantee, that Parisian Sage is the most invigorating and rejuvenating hair tonic. It cures dandruff, stops falling hair and itching scalp; it makes the hair grow strong and vigorous, yet soft and lustrous. It is the only hair dressing that reaches the root bulb of the hair and destroys the dandruff germ.

And to the women who are reading this simple statement of fact, we want to say that Parisian Sage works wonders with women's hair. It will turn dull, harsh and faded hair into beautiful, radiant and lustrous hair in a few days, and is the most pleasant and satisfying dressing any woman ever used.

Druggists everywhere and W. E. Bard Drug Co. sell Parisian Sage for 50c a large bottle.

MUST STAND TRIAL

Motion Made By Mrs. Ford's Attorney for Discharge Was Overruled.

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 2. — Judge Swing this morning overruled the motion of the defense made last night to dismiss the charge of blackmail upon which Mrs. Mary Jeanette Stewart Ford is being tried. Mrs. Ford is being tried on the charge of blackmailing Charles L. Warriner, defaulting treasurer of the Big Four railroad.

The motion which was overruled this morning was that the prisoner be discharged because the prosecuting attorney refused to submit to the court a transcript of the evidence before the grand jury which indicted her.

This move by Mrs. Ford's attorneys created a profound sensation following, as it did, upon the declaration of the woman's lawyers that "Warriner was not the only guilty person in the $643,000 defalcation," and that before Mrs. Ford's trial was concluded they would "compel the revelation of his alleged accomplices."

COMETS

FIGHT WAS CLOSE

"DRYS" WON BY MAJORITY OF 67 VOTES AT WEBB CITY ON TUESDAY.

WAS TRULY A LIVELY CAMPAIGH

The Wets Hired Brass Bands and Automobiles, While the Prohibition Sympathizers Worked the Streets to Frazzle.

Webb City, Mo., Feb. 2.—The drys won by sixty-seven votes in yesterday's election for local option. Early in the day it looked like the wets would win by a sweeping majority, but when the miners began to vote the drys gained steadily. After 3 o'clock there were but 108 votes cast for the wets.

All day long the wets were working with automobiles and carriages carrying the miners to the polls to vote, while there were but few prohibition workers out in carriages, but women were on the streets urging the men to vote for the drys.

Tse election closed the liveliest campaign in the history of Webb City, which has been in progress since Rev. "Billy" Sunday began revivals in Joplin last month.

While Rev. Billy Sunday was conducting the campaign it looked like a dry couny by a sweeping majority would be evident, but after the close of his revivals the anti-local option people became active and large sums of money are said to have been sent here by St. Louis and Kansas City breweries to help the campaign.

Women and children played a conspicuous part in yesterday's election, but the female contingent by no means was alligned with the local optionists.

Almost as many women wearing a red, white and blue ribbon, the emblem of the wets, were out as those wearing the white ribbon, the emblem of the drys.

There were parades of school children for both sides, shouting for either cause. Brass bands played all day at the expense of the wets.

A temporary injunction was issued by Judge Blair, in circuit court, Monday, to stop the enforcement of a part of the proclamation issued by Mayor McNee prohibiting the women and children and brass bands from parading the streets during the hours polls were open.

The part of the proclamation prohibiting the women from serving lunch to the dry voters, as was done in Joplin, and that no woman could be within a radius of 300 feet of the polls was still in force.

Carthage and the balance of Jasper county vote Thursday. Carthage will probably go wet, but the other towns will undoubtedly vote dry.

"Johnnie" left San Bernardino, Cal., at 11 o'clock Saturday morning, via the Santa Fe railway, and never had a delay on the trip.

PLAY IS THRILLING

THE TITLE IS "MADAME X." AND IT WILL HAVE AMERICAN PREMIERE TONIGHT.

DRINKING OF ETHER ON THE STAGE

Drama Produced a Great Sensation in the French Capital—Jane Harding to Play the Part of "Jacqueline."

New York, Feb. 2.—Ravages due to ether drinking, now a popular vice in Paris, are depicted in a realistic manner in Alexander Bissom's new play, "Madame X," which will have its American premiere tonight.

The drama produced a great sensation in the French capital. Jane Harding will play the part of Jacqueline in the American production.

Jacqueline is the wife of a Parisian attorney who deserts her husband and little boy. After twenty years of dissipation she takes up ether drinking to drown her woes.

Her companion, Loraque, conspires to blackmail her husband. She kills Laroque to keep him from betraying her identity to her son, now an attorney.

Her son defends her on her trial and her wronged husband is president of the court, but neither recognizes her.

After the trial the son learns his client is his mother, and she dies as husband and son forgive her.

DEAL COMPLETED

STOCKHOLDERS OF THE IRON MOUNTAIN RAILWAY MEET IN ST. LOUIS TODAY.

VOTED $25,000,000 BOND ISSUE

All of the Bonds Will Be Taken By the Missouri Pacific, Which Owns Nearly All the Iron Mountain Stock.

St. Louis, Feb. 2.—Stockholders of the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern Railway company, a Gould property with 2,600 miles of lines in the southwest, met here here today and voted an improvement gold bond issue of $25,000,000, to increase the capital of the company from $130,000,000 to $190,000,000 and to take over the assets of all but two or three of its subsidiaries.

All of the bonds authorized will be taken by the Missouri Pacific, which owns nearly all the Iron Mountain stock, and with a deposited indenture securing that company's recent authorization of $175,000,000 first mortgage and refunding convertibles.

The increase of Iron Mountain's capitalization is necessitated by reason of the fact that the laws of Missouri do not permit a corporation chartered under its laws to incur an indebtedness greater than its capital.

The stockholders also voted to purchase the assets and franchises of the following railroads: Arkansas and Louisiana Railway company, Arkansas Mildand Railroad company, Arkansas Southwestern Railway company, the Brinkley, Helena and Indian Bay Railroad company, Coal Belt Railway company, Eldorado and Bastrop Railway company, Farmerville and Southern Railroad company, Garland Western Railway company, Gurdon and Ft. PREACHERESS IS CHOSEN

Be Heard at First Congregational Church Sunday Night.

(From Wednesday's Daily.)

A great deal of interest has been manifested in the service to be conducted by the ladies of the First Congregational church next Sunday night. The great question has been, "Who will be the preacheress?"

At a meeting of the committee on the program the wife of the pastor, Mrs. Harold Cooper, was selected, owing to her having had some experience along this line.

At a contest held in Kentucky, when contestants from the states of Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky, entered, Mrs. Cooper was awarded the prize for her ability as a public speaker, and many times has she taken the regular church service whenever the minister was absent.

She will read the sermon in connection with the lantern slides, which will be projected upon the screen.

SENATOR STONE IS ENTRUSIASTIC

The Vote Cast for Dickinson Shows the Trend of Political Sentiment in Missouri, Says Congressman Lloyd.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 2.—In Washington the result of the election in the Sixth Missouri congressional district yesterday, which gives Mr. Dickinson, the democratic candidate, a majority over his republican opponent in excess of the majority by which Judge De Armond carried the district at the last election, is considered very significant.

The tariff principally and the republican administrative polices in general were at stake, according to statements made by republican leaders here and elsewhere, and these have been repudiated by the voters. The adminisration had sent a cabinet officer, Secretary Nagel, to rally the voters to Taft.

It is believed here that the effect will reach to the general elections this fall and will be widespread.

Representative Champ Clark, the minority leader, was delighted when told the news by a correspondent.

"This election, in this single congresional district," he said, "ought to result in the addition of from fifteen to twenty members to the democratic side in the next congress. It will start the democrats to action everywhere. It will cause them to try to carry not only districts which are regarded as close, but also districts which are looked upon as safe by the republicans, though held by small majorities. To my mind it is most significant. I want to congratulate the whole crowd out there."

Senator Stone said:

"The signal victory of Mr. Dickinson indicates that the trend of political sentiment in Missouri is democratic. His majority is far greater than ever attained by Judge De Armond, who always polled the full democratic vote and more. I congratulate the democracy of the Sixth district, and Mr. Dickinson particularly, upon having pointed the way to a great democratic triumph in 1910 the country over.'

"It is a splendid victory for Mr. Dickinson and the democrats," said Representative James T. Lloyd of Missouri, chairman of the democratic congressional committee. "The eyes of the country were on the Sixth district. The result is the straw in the political wind which shows the drift of opinion. The normal democratic majority has been increased more then really was expected. The Payne tariff has been repudiated and the republican policies discredited. It signifies democratic victory in the congressional elections this fall."

RECOVERED 33 BODIES

It Will Be Many Hours Before Balance of Mine Victims Are Found.

Drakesboro, Ky., Feb. 2.—Heroic as have been the efforts of scores of rescuers throughout the night, it is believed that it will be many hours before the Browder mine, near here, yields the bodies of the last of the men whose lives were snuffed out in the explosioon yesterday. Early today thirty-three bodies had been recovered. Among the killed was Matt Allen, police judge of Drakesboro, aged fifty, who leaves a wife and six children.

HIGH SCHOOL EXERCISES

A Talk By the Rev. Harold Cooper This Morning.

(From Wednesday's Daily.)

The weekly exercises at the High school were conducted by the Rev. Harold Cooper, pastor of the First Congregational church, who, after the opening prayer and songs, gave a very interesting and instructive talk on the folly of seeking an easy snap in life.

The talk was appreciated to the fullest by both faculty and students.

This was followed by two selections on the mandolin and guitar by the Misses Kuhn and their sister, Mrs. Robinson.

REGULATION THAT REGULATES.

During the recent local option election in Joplin, the Morning Globe, doubtless the most influential newspaper in the district, was an advocate of license, and while the campaign was on did everything it could to convince the people that its views were right.

The day after the battle was won the Globe took occasion to publish some good advice to the saloon keepers, who by the grace of the people's vote are permitted to continue in business.

It was very emphatic in its statements, and didn't hesitate to tell those to whom the lecture was addressed some very plain truths.

The advice given and the recommendations made were so good that it would do no harm were they printed in every newspaper in the country. Certainly, if the suggestions made should be acted upon by every person in the liquor business, and every city where liquor is sold, part of the question which has been, and is, agitating so many sections of the United States would be solved.

Here is the Globe's "lecture:"

In yesterday's election the majority of the people of Joplin voted against local option. This simply means that the saloon as a law abiding business may continue. It would be the height of folly to construe the meaning of yesterday's vote otherwise.

There are men in the saloon business in Joplin whose instinct seems to be to violate the law. In defiance of the law they have kept their places open on Sundays. In defiance of the law they have failed to observe the ordinance stipulating the hour of closing during the week. In defiance of law, decency and public sentiment they have maintained the so-called wine rooms in connection with their places. In defiance of the law and public sentiment they have acted as a sort of appointment to gambling houses.

That sort of man must mend his ways, or he must quit the saloon business, or the people will wipe out the saloon.

The vote against local option does not mean that the indignation of the people has abated in the least against the lawlessness of the saloon.

With many of the voters—possibly the majority—who voted "wet" it was a case of choosing the lesser of two evils. It remains for the saloon men and for the officers of the law to vindicate the people's judgment. And if that judgment is not vindicated the people will be warranted in assuming that their judgment was wrong; that they did not choose the lesser of the two evils and will try local option the next time the question presents itself.

The city council has the authority to pass an ordinance that will regulate the saloons. Such an ordinance should be passed at once. It should provide:

That saloons shall close on Sunday, from midnight Saturday night until 5 o'clock Monday morning.

That saloons shall close promptly every night at 12 o'clock and stay closed until 5 o'clock in the morning.

That during the closing hours all screens, partitions, etc., shall be removed, and every other obstacle, so that the interior of the saloon, which shall be lighted, may be seen by those passing along the sidewalk.

That there shall be no musical instruments of any kind or character in saloons.

Finally, that the privilege of running a saloon in Joplin—the license—shall be valued at $1,800.

An ordinance of this kind would necessarily mean a substantial reduction in the number of saloons. They ought to be reduced. At present there are fifty-four saloons in Joplin. It is a ridiculous number. At the most, there should not be more than twenty saloons in a city of this size.

If a saloon license in Joplin cost $1,800 or $2,000 it would have the effect of making the saloons self-regulated. Such a license would, in effect, be a very valuable franchise—too valuable, in fact, to be jeopardized by violating the law.

It would have the further effect of banishing from the saloon business the stool-pigeons of the brewers, and this would be one of the best things that could happen to the reputable, legitimate saloon keeper.

The provisions requiring the interior of the saloons to be so exposed during closing hours that everything within would be visible from the street, would put an end to the illegal traffic now conducted behind the drawn curtains or screens or other barriers.

If this ordinance seems to be a drastic regulation, the answer is that the people are dead tired of rampant irregulation.

There is mighty little moral choice between "prohibition that does not prohibit" and "regulation that does not regulate."

And to the saloon man who does not wish to conform to these requirements, it may be offered by way of advice that he'd better get out of the business.

Let the council pass an ordinance such as has been outlined. Let the administration understand that this ordinance is to be enforced to the very letter. And in the enforcement of this ordinance the Globe pledges its influence and its energy, regardless of the politics of the party in power. With this pledge also is given the assurance that the violation of this ordinance will be exposed by the Globe whenever and wherever such violation is discovered, and the responsibility will be fixed, "let the chips fall where they may."

WHAT A CHANGE IS THIS?

The result of the special election in the Sixth congressional district yesterday is a sure indication of the state of mind of the country at large at the present time.

By an unheard-of and unthought of majority of nearly 4,000, C. C. Dickinson, democrat, was elected against Paul E. Griffith, a standpat-Aldrich-Cannon republican, after a campaign as earnest and thorough as was ever conducted in this country.

The entire republican party, from President Taft down, was inteusely interested in the race.

Puffed up with their victory of 1908, the leaders of the party announced from the house tops that this election would be a barometer, showing how the country stands on the tariff, and on the Taft-Cannon-Aldrich-Ballinger combination, and then proceeded to pour into the district a stream of campaign funds, and to send to every cross-roads party spellbinders, to an extent never bfore known in a Missouri congressional election.

Governor Hadley tore himself loose from his onerous duties at Jefferson City and in an attempt to win votes for Griffith inaugurated a campaign of personal vilification as uncalled for as it was ungenerous and untrue.

Secretary of Commerce Nagel came from Washington and as the personal representative of the president pleaded from the stump for a republican victory. Orators from St. Louis, from Kansas City, from everywhere, hurried to the battlefield and joined in the fray. It was a money fest, a brain-fest and a talk-fest; everything brought into line and nothing omitted that could in the slightest degree aid in the winning of the district.

And sure enough, the result was a barometer. A barometer of what?

A barometer of how the people feel toward Taft, of how they feel toward Aldrich, toward Cannon, toward Ballinger, and last, but not least, of their feelings toward Hadley, a governor who was elected by a campaign of falsehood as infamous as was ever known in the history of the nation.

A barometer, indeed, but a barometer that shows the people have awakened, that they are thinking, that no longer will they believe false statements, and stand supinely by while an administration violates its every pledge to the people, laughs in the face of public opinion and saddles upon the country a robber tariff so infamous that it calls a protest even from republican congressmen, who rather than acquiesce in so monstrous an iniquity forfeit their party standing and cut themselves off from party favors that would naturally come to them as republican representatives.

DeArmond, well beloved as he always was by his people, a congressman of national fame, brilliant and great, was elected by only 2,160 votes in November, 1908, with no fight of any moment made against him, and now, in February, 1910, after not quite a year of Taft rule, a comparatively unknown democrat, against the most tremendous opposition, is chosen by 3,783.

"What a change is this, my countrymen?" And what a brilliant promise of better things for the future, of the coming of the people into that which is their own, of the dawning of the day when justice and right shall prevail, God reign and the government at Washington live by and for the people.

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. THE THIRD HOUSE

I notice in last night's Democrat-Sentinel that some well meaning friend mentions my name in connection with the democratic nomination for mayor this spring. I don't know who did this but like that fellow. Only one thing he neglected to mention. It is usual for men in my line of business to come through the winter lean and hungry. This has been a long, hard winter and I should be in fine racing form. If mayors were only a winter job I should have lots of time to devote to the office, then, too, the salary would help to keep down expenses. Heretofore I have been an extremely busy man, during more than half of the year, but surely a soda water plant might run itself for a year or two, for, of course, I would be re-elected.

This was a well worded article, and "Citizen" is not going to have to prove his assertions, as I admit them. "I do not know a cleaner, better man in the city"—cleanliness goes with my business—my goodness is acquired recently. "As honest as the day is long, his word is as good as his bond"—have to pay up or quit—never could lie and get away with it.

"Has lived in Sedalia since boyhood"—I like the place.

"He also has the courage of his convictions"—if Citizen means stubborn, bull-headed—my best friends will agree with him.

"He is one of the plain people"—if Citizen means just an ordinary man, not only my friends but all of my relations will agree with him.

"There would be neither wet nor dry"—a condition devoutly to be wished.

I thank "Citizen" for the kindly mention of my father. I believe all who knew him will agree that he is an honorable man. Yet when I run for mayor it will not be as my father's son. As I near conclusion, Mr. Editor, I will confess to you that I have long harbored a mayoralty bee, but as I have never mentioned this except in strictest confidence to my wife, I cannot imagine how it could have gotten out. However, were she not so far above suspicion that mention of my bank roll might have caused me to suspect her with having inspired this article.

You would not suspect, Mr. Editor, how this whole matter stirred me up. Last night, after taking a good long walk, and going to the moving picture show, to quiet my nerves, I retired and was soon fast asleep, not for long, however, as I awoke with dreams of piloting airships and city governments until, try as I would, I could not go back to sleep till I had arisen in the wee sma' hours in the cold to write this reply, after which I returned to bed and slept long and soundly

Mr. Citizen, I thank you.

Respectfully,
WILL J. CRAWFORD.

Mr. Editor: In your Brooklyn correspondence of Jan. 30, Pastor Chas. T. Russsell is quoted as saying some things about the Lutheran church. We would not ask for this word were it not that a flagrant misrepresentation appears with respect to Luther's position and that of the church of the Reformation in relation to the Eucharist.

First, permit me to say that the pastor of the Brooklyn tabernacle in speaking of the federation of the denominations places himself squarely on Lutheran territory—in fact carries the whole test of denominations over on safe ground when he concludes that "Lutherans would not be required to sacrifice anything." He admits not only "their (Lutherans) tenacity for the word of God," but that during all these generations the Lutheran church has occupied true scriptural ground.

We quote: "Summing up then we find that Lutherans would have nothing to lose by federation, nothing to surrender except a little pride." The fact that the Lutheran adheres to the pure teaching of the Word of God, we have, no doubt, does infuse into him a little pride—a considerable amount of it in fact. And just why the Rev. Mr. Russell wishes the Lutheran to surrender pride thus begotten we are unable to see.

As to the misrepresentation: "Nothing along these lines need to be abandoned, Even Luther's plea of consubstantiation in the Eucharist may be held without objection. Either the noted Brooklyn divine is careless in his handling of the truth, or ignorant of the true position of the Lutheran church in regard to this matter. We do not remember to have seen, read or heard from any reliable source that Luther either believed in consubstantiation or at any time ever plead for it. There are cheap cyclopedias and books which assert that the Lutheran church adheres to consubstantiation—and occasionally a learned scholar who has given no time to Reformation history. This view we might say was held by John of Paris and Rupert. But the Lutheran church does not today, never did, nor never will teach consubstantiation, for such belief has no basis in God's word. A literal acceptance of Jesus' words is all we claim. We believe and teach a sacramental conjunction—a mystical mediating relation of the natural (bread and wine) to the spiritual (body and blood), each unchanged and without substantial conjunction.

Evangelical Lutheran Pastor.

WM. COURTNEY.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

Quite a few names have been mentioned for mayor of Sedalia, and I presume many more will be brought forward before the candidates of the two parties are selected.

I have no words of disparagement for any of the gentlemen thus far offered, but I wish to call attention to one man, who, if he would consent to serve, would make the best mayor Sedalia ever had—Dr. W. J. Ferguson.

Dr. Ferguson is one of the most public spirited citizens in the city. He has an abundance of energy, is brave and fearless in the discharge of public duty and as chief executive of Sedalia would devote to its interests that wealth of enthusiasm that has so signally aided in every enterprise, and they are many, with which he has been identified, and oftentimes the leader. He possesses so many requisites for this position that it would be impossible to name them all, but it can be safely stated that with him at the head of affairs in this city, Sedalia would move forward with an impetus that would amaze and at the same time profit every person interested in its prosperity.

Dr. Ferguson is a democrat, so let the democrats nominate him. The people will see to it that he is elected.—Progressive Sedalian.

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

How does the name of W. J. Crawford strike you for the democratic nomination for mayor at the April election? I do not know of a cleaner, better man in the city than this same Will Crawford. He comes of one of the oldest and best families in Central Missouri, his father, Hon. G. W. Crawford, of Lamonte, having represented Pettis county most creditably in the legislature.

Will Crawford is a chip off the old block—as honest as the day is long, and his word is as good as his bond.

He has lived in Sedalia since boyhood, and is thoroughly familiar with its needs. He also has the courage of his convictions, and as the head of the city he would see to it that the affairs of the adminstration were run on business principles.

He is one of the plain people, without a big bank roll upon which to make a campaign, but if his party should see fit to honor him with the nomination I have every confidence that he would be elected.

There would be neither "wet" nor "dry" talk with Mr. Crawford as the nominee of the democracy, and certainly that is a feature that nine-tenths of the people of Sedalia would be glad to eliminate.

If any person knows of a more available man than W. J. Crawford, speak out, please.—Citizen.

Sermon by CHARLES T. RUSSELL, Pastor Brooklyn Tabernacle.

Mass Meeting No. 3

Counting the Cost

What Episcopalians, Catholics and Lutherans Must Surrender

Correspondence Democrat-Sentinel.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Jan. 20.—The third meeting for the consideration of Church Federation was held today. The spacious Brooklyn Academy of Music was crowded with Christian people of all denominations to attend the third of the series of four meetings called by the People's Pulpit association. Pastor C. T Russell, of the Brooklyn Tabernacle, addressed the large audience for an hour and a half. The deep interest felt was evidenced by the profound silence, as well as by the eagerness of face. The text was the same as on the two previous occasions, "Say ye not, A Federation, to all them to whom this people shall say, A Federation; neither fear ye their fear, nor be afraid" (Isaiah viii, 12). The speaker said:—

We meet today to consider what sacrifices would need to be made in the interests of Federation by the three oldest denominations of Christiandom. Of these Lutherans have least to surrender. Their tenacity for the Word of God they may still maintain, even though others of the federated bodies might more and more abandon the Holy Scriptures, under the leadership of the universities, colleges and seminaries teaching Higher-Criticism-Infidelity and the Evolution theory. The federation nevertheless would still permit Lutherans and others to love and reverence the Word of God and yet be in fellowship. Almighty God, the Son of God and the Holy Spirit, firmly believed in by Lutherans, would all be acknowledged with more or less of mental reservation by all the denominations associated in the Federation. Nothing along these lines would need to be abandoned. Even Luther's plea of consubstantiation in the Eucharist may be held without objection. Even the honor of being the first denomination of the Reformation might still be held. We conclude then that Lutherans would not be required to sacrifice anything.

Some Things in Common.

Episcopalians and Catholics have some things in common. They each claim to represent the original apostolic church. They each claim (through their bishops in the laying on of hands) apostolic authority. Their common claim is that all other denominations of Christians whatsoever are false churches without Divine authority and hence not to be recognized or tolerated. Accordingly no minister of another denomination would be permitted to preach either in a Catholic or an Episcopalian pulpit. And if by mischance such a circumstance should occur it would be considered necessary to purge the sared spot by a kind of re-consecration. From the standpoint of these denominations all others are heretics; but, they say, not willingly so, but ignorantly so.

Here note the fact that acleavage is in process amongst Episcopalians. A minority, termed high-churchmen, are gradually separating Romeward, while the majority are sharing the sentiments of other Protestants, to the effect that the matter of "apostolic succession" is probably less important than their forefathers supposed. For the purposes of this discussion we may without offense ignore the high-church minority and say that the Scriptures which plainly foretell the perfecting of Church Federation indicate that it will include Episcopalians, but will not include Catholics. Nevertheless the intimation is that while the Federation will be a Protestant one, it will not be anti-Catholic. On the contrary the two great systems, Catholic and Protestant, will fraternize and cooperate along various lines—especially in the manipulation of social and political influences.

The breadth of the Episcopal creed will not call for particular sacrifices in Federation, if only their pride on the subject of apostolic succession can be satisfied. They are all prepared to admit that no particular wisdom or holiness has been communicated from generation to generation, from bishop to bishop and from bishop to lower clergy through the laying on of hands. They are willing to admit that there have been men as wise and others as foolish outside as inside their Communion. They are willing to admit that no greater light upon the Word of God and its meaning has come down to humanity through its channels than through outside channels. They are willing to admit that their clergy have no more of Divine Grace and Truth, Wisdom and Power than have others of God's people, both clergy and laity, outside their boundaries. Hence they are willing, nay, anxious, for Federation, and ask only that their "face be saved," by some acknowledgment of the long idolized thought that ability to expound the Scriptures and the Grace of God in expounding them could be had only through their channel. They have no desire to prove their claim to superior grace and truth by measuring swords of the Spirit with other ministers.

Up to the present time Episcopalians decline to be parties to the Federation unless their special claim be in some sense or degree recognized. Pride says it would never do to retract now all that the denomination has stood for in separation for centuries. They would urge Christians of the other denominations, especially the clergy, to consider the advantage which would accrue to the Federation by having all Protestant ministers accept their ordination. They do not claim that it would make them wiser or better men, nor more efficient teachers, either of truth or error. But they do claim that it would give them an authority in the eyes of the people and give color and reasonableness to the Federation of many churches with discordant creeds posing as one church in the Federation arrangement.

The argument is, "The common people, the laity," are disposed more than ever to think for themselves on religious subjects and to study the Bible for themselves. If, therefore, as ministers, you desire to hold the people in check so that they shall not think for themselves you would do well to concede the claim of apostolic succession—that no one is permitted to interpret or teach the Bible except those who have received apostolic benediction. It was disregard of this claim of apostolic benediction which led to freedom of thought on religious subjects and ultimately led to the formation of the various sects. You should now seek to restrict further investigation of the Bible and further interpretation of it by accepting our theory, by permitting us to grant you recognition in some simple form of the rights of apostolic authority through our bishops. If you do not do so you will more and more lose your hold on the people, for we are coming more and more to a time of individual thought on every topic.

The Scriptures intimate that this argument will ultimately prevail and great Protestant denominations be thus vitalized and, in co-operation with Catholicism, for a short while dominate Christendom socially and politically, crushing out individual thought and negativing and blacklisting all religious teachers outside the Federation and its Catholic Ally. From this standpoint the Episcopal system will lose nothing, but even be a gainer of prestige through the Federation.

What Catholics Would Surrender.

For Catholics to join the Federation would signify the surrender of a great deal, and yet, in the light of the Twentieth century, surely much could be surrendered without any sacrifice of manhood—merely with the sacrifice of a little pride. For the Church at Rome to federate with the Protestant churches would mean that they ceased to protest and that she relinquished her peculiar claims:

(1) That she alone is the Church of Christ and has authority to instruct;

(2) That she is more than a church or prospective kingdom—that to her has been committed by God the rulership of the world in respect to all matters temporal and spiritual, hence that she is the reigning Kingdom of God.

(3) That her pope is the authorized representative of Christ, anointed and commissioned of God to fulfill all the prophecies of the Scriptures respecting the reign of Christ, His Millennial Kingdom, etc. This claim of Papacy that the pope's reign is de facto the reign of Christ is expressed in the declaration that he is the vice gerent of Christ—the one reigning instead of Christ.

(4) The doctrine of trans-substantiation—that by the blessing of a priest the ordinary bread and wine are transmuted into the actual soul of Christ—(his flesh and his blood) for sacrifice afresh in each celebration of the mass.

Whatever may have been true in the remote past, assuredly our Catholic friends can no longer claim that all the purity, all the faithfulness to God, all the sanctity of life amongst believers in Christ are to be found in her communion. St. Paul declares, "If any man have not the Spirit of Christ he is none of his." Surely all Christians admit this standard and the correctness of the Apostle's teaching. Hence the ignoring and setting aside of all creeds and barriers which have heretofore hindered the Unity of the Church of Christ might be possible. Thus the first Catholic objection might easily be removed in favor of Federation, or, better still, in favor of Union. As our Episcopalian friends fail to prove that the apostolic succession to ordination gave either greater wisdom or more grace to their clergy than to other ministers of the Gospel, might not our Catholic friends reasonably admit the same?

The second claim that Papacy is God's kingdom, that the popes reign successively as Christ's vice-gerent, should not be difficult for Catholics of our day to lay aside. However strongly it was held in the dark past it is surely little appreciated by Catholics today. No longer do the popes dominate the civil rulers of Christendom. And no longer do the people consider it wise that they should do so. More and more the masses appreciate the fact that the original kingdom of earth was given to Father Adam and that mankind as his children are the natural heirs of the inheritance. More and more the masses demand congresses, parliaments, reichstags and doumas. And more and more do they demand that these shall reflect the sentiments of the people in civil and religious matters. The day of darkness and ignorance in which the people believed that popes and kings were divinely appointed to rule them with divine authority has gone by. General intelligence has taught mankind that it is a mistake to suppose that one God-appointed king and kingdom were divinely appointed to wipe another divinely appointed king and kingdom oy the face of the earth. Hence popes and kings now admit that they reign by a popular sufferance, and their appeals for money, for armies and navies, is no longer on the score that they were divinely instructed to obliterate each other, but on the score of self-defense.

This claim, however, wholly destroys the argument that we are now or ever in the past have been under Christ's Kingdom, either direct or through the popes. Neither now nor at any other time in the world's history has there been a reign of righteousness such as the Scriptures declare Christ's Kingdom shall be. May we not, then, with good grace—Catholics and Protestants—admit that neither our Catholic popes, emperors and kings, nor our Protestant kings, emperors and heads of churches are reigning with any divine authority manifest to human judgment? Let us humbly admit the nonsense of the legends on our coins, Catholic and Protestant, to the effetc that kings and popes reign by the grace of God—by divine appointment. Let us rather say that they came into power through the exercise of brute force and in a time of common public ignorance. Nor by this do we mean any disrespect to the governments of today—rather we have shown that today the people are ruling through their congresses, parliaments, reichstags, etc., and that the kings and emperors are mere figureheads of power, more or less useful and dependent upon the good will of their people.

If it be asked how we shall account for the period of the dark ages and autocratic and devilish misrule, our reply would be to point to the Apostle's words. He declares that Satan is the god or ruler of this world, who now operates through the disobedient—through those not in harmony with God, who constitute the vast majority in Christendom and elsewhere. And we remind you that our Lord Jesus also spoke of Satan as being the prince of this world or age (John xii, 31), and of himself as the Prince or Ruler of the coming age, the Millennial age (John xviii, 36).

Ah, yes! the sooner both Catholics and Protestants admit what they and all the world now see, the better—namely, that for a long time our great Adversary held us in a bondage of ignorance and superstition, in getting free from which many bright minds have reacted towards infidelity, because they did not see that many of the teachings of the past, both Catholic and Protestant, were not only irrational, but most positively unscriptural teachings of men, and, as St. Paul declared, "doctrines of demons" (I Timothy, iv. 1).

Not Vice-Gerent Christ.

In view of the foregoing, in view of the fact that the Divine titles of all kings and emperors are now abrogated, papacy need feel no disgrace to her cause in similarly abrogating the claim that the popes reign as the representatives of Christ or have authority so to do. Indeed, such a claim is more safely denied than held, for in the light of our day papacy's best friends can not look into the past and point with pride to any achievement as properly representing the reign of the Prince of Peace—Immanuel. In the light of the present, Catholics and Protestants, of every shade, should rejoice to join in the Lord's prayer, "Thy kingdom come; thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven." Surely, this is what all saints of every denomination should desire and pray for and labor for.

Not that we can hope to bring it to pass ourselves, however. Nearly nineteen centuries of effort show to the contrary. Even our last century of great missionary endeavor, Catholic and Protestant, prove this. United States statistics show that in the year 1800 there were six hundred millions of heathens, and in the year 1900 their numbers had doubled—there were twelve hundred millions of heathens. While continuing our exertions on behalf of the heathens abroad and at home, let us tie our faith to the apostles words and "wait for God's Son from heaven" (I Thessalonians i, 10).

At the second coming of Christ and the glorification of "His elect," His saints, gathered from all denominations, Catholic and Protestant, and some from outside of all of them, only then will the glorious reign of Christ and the church begin. Only then will the Spiritual Seed of Abraham be complete and the work of blessing the unregenerate world begin—the Millennial kingdom work, the overthrow of Satan and his empire, the scattering of darkness, ignorance and superstition which he fostered, the flooding of the earth with the light of the knowledge of the glory of God, the restoration of natural Israel to Divine favor, the bringing in of everlasting righteousness through a mental, physical and moral uplift. Whoever then shall refuse all these blessings and privileges shall be destroyed from among the people. Thus, eventually, in the close of the Millennium, God's will shall be "done on earth even as it is done in heaven," as fully, as completely. This is the "kingdom of God's dear Son," for which we wait and pray. And however good or bad other kingdoms, temporal or spiritual, have been, we need no longer consider them substitutes for this one, which shall be the "desire of all nations" (Haggai ii, 7).

Trans-Substantiation, Masses, Purgatory.

We are free to admit that the Catholic doctrines of trans-substantiation, masses and purgatory would be difficult for our Catholic friends to abandon for the sake of federation or for any other reason. Nevertheless, we believe that in the light of our day there is more to be earned upon these important doctrines. Without agreeing with these doctrines, without claiming Catholic affiliation, let me here say that the Catholic doctrine of purgatory, which lies at the foundation of these three, is in many respects more rational than our Protestant doctrine of eternal torture. It would surely be more God-like to provide some way of escape for the millions of humanity than to leave thousands of millions uselessly in untellable anguish to all eternity. However, the Lord willing, it is my intention to discuss this subject in a general mass meeting of all christian people of all denominations on Sunday, March 6. So many of you as desire to attend will be welcomed on that occasion. We will then seek for the Scriptural explanation of these doctrines—purgatory and hell.

Summing up, then, we find that Lutherans would have nothing to lose by federation, nothing to surrender, except a little pride. Episcopalians, likewise, will find federation to cost them little. They can well afford to join the federation, especially upon terms upon which they insist—the recognition of apostolic succession. And this they can afford to concede in its very mildest form, realizing that it has never specially advantaged them in any way and is impossibe of demonstration, in view of the fact that the Scriptures declare that there are but twelve apostles of the Lamb and symbolically show only a twelve-star crown to the church during this age and only twelve foundations to the New Jerusalem — the church in glory. How, then, could bishops either possess or give apostolic blessings? (Rev. xii, 1; xxi, 14).

Omitting the Catholic church, being assured by the Scriptures that she will not be a member of the federation, we conclude by advising the Protestant christian communions discussed today not to be content with federation, but to go the entire length of the union, dropping all of their pet ideas and acknowledging as fellow christians and fellow members of the body of Christ—the church—all who acknowledge Jesus as their Savior, their Redeemer, and who turn from the ways of sin and to the best of their ability walk in the paths of righteousness, and who make full consecration of themselves to the Lord. These are and ever should be one, in the most absolute sense possible, both now and beyond the veil.

MUST STAND TRIAL

Motion Made By Mrs. Ford's Attorney for Discharge Was Overruled.

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 2. — Judge Swing this morning overruled the motion of the defense made last night to dismiss the charge of blackmail upon which Mrs. Mary Jeanette Stewart Ford is being tried. Mrs. Ford is being tried on the charge of blackmailing Charles L. Warriner, defaulting treasurer of the Big Four railroad.

The motion which was overruled this morning was that the prisoner be discharged because the prosecuting attorney refused to submit to the court a transcript of the evidence before the grand jury which indicted her.

This move by Mrs. Ford's attorneys created a profound sensation following, as it did, upon the declaration of the woman's lawyers that "Warriner was not the only guilty person in the $643,000 defalcation," and that before Mrs. Ford's trial was concluded they would "compel the revelation of his alleged accomplices."

MUCO-SOLVENT——WHAT IT IS AND WHAT IT DOES

It had its origin in the private formula of a physician of a large practice, who did not lose a case of diphtheria in twenty years.

As a specific for preventing and arresting the development of CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH, DIPHTHERIA, COUGHS, COLDS AND MEASLES, it has never been equaled. In every community where MUCO-SOLVENT has been adopted it arrested fatalities and quickly stamped out the epidemics, many of which were, before its adoption, among the most serious ever recorded. MUCO-SOLVENT wins its victories by destroying the germs and microbes of disease.

DICKINSON CHOSEN

ELECTED TO CONGRESS IN THE SIXTH DISTRICT BY A BIG MAJORITY.

GREAT DAY FOR THE DEMOCRACY

It Sounded the Death Knell of "Bill" Taft, "Uncle Joe" Cannon, and Means That the Robber Tariff Will Have to Go.

Clinton, Mo., Feb. 2.—Former State Senator Clement Cabell Dickinson, of Clinton, was elected yesterday as the successor of the late Congressman David A. DeArmond, by a majority of 3,783 over Phil S. Griffith, of Greenville, his republican opponent. The democratic majority is the largest ever recorded in the Sixth district.

Mr. Dickinson received 1,623 more votes than did Mr. DeArmond in 1908, indicating that about 800 republicans voted for him. It is estimated that about 30,000 votes, or 90 per cent of the total in the district, were polled.

The result is believed by democratic leaders to portend republican disaster in the election next November and to insure the overthrow of the Cannon regime in the next national congress.

Some of the more enthusiastic advance the opinion that the democratic gains registered yesterday are a rebuke to President Taft for his indorsement of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law and other unpopular measures.

Dickinson carried his home township, which includes his home city of Clinton, by 429, which is 338 more than DeArmond received here two years ago. The difference is said to represent the number of republicans who voted for their fellow townsman.

Henry county's big majority of 1,302 resulted from a democratic vote of 90 per cent and a republican vote of 5 per cent for Dickinson. The democratic vote in the other counties is estimated at 90 per cent of the total cast for Bryan in 1908, and the republican vote 75 per cent of the total cast for Taft in the district. It is figured that the total vote cast for Dickinson and Griffith was 30,469.

Griffith carried his home county (Dade) by only 253, which is 231 less than the republican majority in 1908.

Cedar county, which went republican by 411 two years ago, was the only other county carried by Griffith, and here a republican loss of 225 was also noted.

Dickinson's home county (Henry) went for him by 1,302, which is 93 more than Bryan got in 1896, heretofore the banner democratic majority in the county.

Cass county shows a gain for the democrats of 180 over the figures of two years ago. This is considered particularly significant, because it was in Pleasant Hill, in Cass county, that Governor Hadley sought to disrupt the democrats by an attack upon Senator Stone and indirectly upon Mr. Dickinson.

Johnson county followed the other democratic counties, with a gain of 173 over 1908, while St. Clair, where the republicans made a vigorous fight, increased its democratic majority by 205.

Even Appleton City, where the republican congressional headquarters were located, was carried by the democratic by 7 votes. Normally, that town is republican.

Enthusiasm is rampant throughout the district among democrats and progressive republicans. The significance of the result is appreciated by all, and cheering crowds are parading the streets in all of the towns of the district.

Encouragement is given to the democrats to strike for a greater victory next fall by the anti-high tariff sentiment expressed by the Dickinson majorities in the country districts as well as the thickly settled centers.

The republican supporters who campaigned the district, including Secretary Nagel, of President Taft's cabinet, argued artfully in their efforts to land the farmer vote. That the farmers were not deceived was shown by the records from the rural polling places.

High prices of farm products and other necessities were advanced by Secretary Nagel as an indication of prosperity under a high protective tariff. The farmers thought otherwise.

They also pleaded for an indorsement of the Taft policies. The democratic speakers, on the other hand, denounced the tariff law, the republican party's broken pledges for revision downward, the republican trend toward centralization of power in the national government, and the disregard of the rights of the state, and last, but not least, Cannonism and all that the term implies.

Griffith's defeat was a hard blow to Cannon. The republican nominee ran on an out and out republican high tariff platform. He boasted of his allegiance to "Uncle Joe" and of his indorsement of the Taft administration, and repudiated the republican progressives in congress, particularly Victor Murdock, of Kansas, leader of the house insurgents.

Mr. Dickinson said last night he expected to take his seat in congress on next Monday.

News of his election was wired to President Taft by a republican leader last night.

Pluralities of the two candidates in the several counties of the district were as follows:

COUNTIES	1910 DICKINSON (Dem.)	1910 GRIFFITH (Rep.)	1908 DeARMOND (Dem.)	1908 ATKESON (Rep.)

GAVE HER $84,000

SILENCE COST $1,000 A MONTH, AVERS CONVICT C. L. WARRINER.

ACCUSED WOMAN CRIES IN COURT

Breakdown Comes When Endearing Letters Written By Her to Cooke Are Read In Blackmail Trial.

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 1.—Eighty-four thousand dollars was the price Chas. L. Warriner, defaulting local treasurer of the Big Four railroad, paid for a woman's silence, according to his testimony yesterday.

Fearing exposure of his shortcomings, he gave Mrs. Jeanette Stewart-Ford an average of $1,000 a month for seven years, the payments stopping only when the exposure came from other sources November 2, last.

Such was the substance of the startling testimony which Warriner gave yesterday at the trial of Mrs. Ford on a charge of blackmailing him.

Mrs. Ford sat through the recital with immobile countenance. Twice only during the day did she allow her feelings to show. The first instance came before Warriner appeared, when Judge Swing ordered her two children removed from the courtroom. They had entered with their mother, but when attorney for the prosecution objected the two were sent to another room in charge of a nurse.

Mrs. Ford's second ordeal came near the end of the proceedings. Just before the adjournment of court letters were introduced by the state which she had written to Edgar S. Cooke, formerly an employe in the Big Four railroad offices here. The missives mentioned visits she had hade to "W" and were couched in the most endearing terms.

Her infatuation for Cooke was clearly revealed in them, and as her declarations of affection were read to the jury, Mrs. Ford shook and tears streamed down her cheeks.

Warriner testified that the initials in the letters referred to him.

Warriner said that he sent stipulated amounts of $250 each week to Mrs. Ford at the Riverview hotel, Chicago, in currency, never in checks, and usually in care of her maid. At one time he paid $1,000 in one payment for her boy's schooling, he said.

"Last September I told her that her demands must be kept down," said Warriner, "as it had come to a time when I could not meet them. I said if she would go to New York and get a flat I would try to furnish her with money to meet expenses. During September of last year, her reason for coming to me for money, she said, was because she was protecting me by not making public the Big Four shortage."

WAS HIT BY A STREET CAR

Buggy in Which J. D. Long, a Farmer, Was Riding Today.

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

J. D. Long, living sixteen miles northeast of Sedalia, was injured and his vehicle smashed in a street car accident at Third street and Osage avenue at 2:10 o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. Long was riding in a buggy, pulled by a team of horses. He was going south on Osage avenue. A street car, westbound, approached, and the motorman rang the bell, but Mr. Long did not hear it.

The vehicle was on the track when the motorman gave another loud ring, causing Mr. Long to whip the horses to make them move faster. As he did so the car struck the vehicle, badly smashing it and throwing the occupant to the pavement.

Mr. Long was rendered unconscious and sustained a cut on the face and hand

A PRIVATE SANITARIUM

Dr. Casto Medical Company Leases Bothwell Property on Lamine Avenue.

The Bothwell property, just across from the court house, east on Lamine avenue, has been leased by the Dr. Casto Medical Co. The building, which contains sixteen rooms, will be converted into a private sanitarium, and alterations will be begun soon toward fitting it up for this purpose.

Dr. Casto, when seen about the proposition today, confirmed the deal and added that the premises would be occupied as soon as the improvements and additions could be built. He said such an institution was and has been needed for a long time, as the phenomenal growth of the Dr. Casto Medical Co., and especially on account of the many patients from a distance, who come to Sedalia for treatment, was such as to make it absolutely necessary that they have a place other than private homes and hotels to stay while undergoing treatment here. Such an arrangement is bound to work to the advantage of both patients and the company.

"The sanitarium will be used exclusively for our patients," continued Dr. Casto, "and I feel sure the fame of the institution will spread beyond the field it is now so well known in."

The present offices of the company will be maintained in conjunction with the sanitarium, where patients in Sedalia and vicinity will be treated.

This concern, since Dr. Casto's association with it, has had a most remarkable growth, and brings thousands of dollars to Sedalia every year.

WOMEN IN AUTO KILLED

R. A. Talbot, of New York, Fatally Injured By Denver Car.

Denver, Feb. 1.—James A. Baker, of Attleboro, Mass., and two women whose identity is unknown were killed, and Russell A. Talbot, of New York, was injured fatally last night when a trolley car crashed into the automobile in which five persons were riding. Morris Mayer, owner of the machine, suffered only minor injuries.

Baker and Talbot were traveling men and were guests of Mayer. All efforts to ascertain the names of the women were unavailing.

The machine in which the party was riding was speeding along South Broadway at a furious rate, running between the street car tracks. Cars were approaching from both directions, and in an effort to avoid the northbound car Mayer tried to cross the tracks. The machine skidded on the rail and it is supposed that Mayer instinctively set the brake to keep from going over.

The southbound car crashed into the machine from the rear, completely demolishing it. Talbot and Baker with one of the women, were in the back seat. The woman's head and body were crushed to pulp, and Baker had a number of bones broken. Both were dead when picked up.

Talbot suffered severe internal injuries and was unconscious when help arrived. The other woman who was sitting beside Mayer, was thrown to the ground and her skull crushed. Mayer was tossed to one side and was but little hurt.

Plans to Lecture in Europe This Spring Are Interfered With.

Washington, Feb. 1.—Commander Robert E. Peary, discoverer of the north pole, has completed his tidal and other observations made for the coast and geological survey in the arctic regions and has been ordered to report to the navy department for assignment to regular duty.

Interferes With Plans.

New York, Feb. 1.—If Commander Peary resumes his duties in the navy department it will seriously interfere with plans that have been made for testimonials in his behalf and with his arrangements to sail for Europe April 27. His friends here, therefore expressed surprise today on learning that he had been ordered to report for duty.

A national testimony for the commander was to have been held at the Metropolitan opera house Feb. 8 while many other states had arranged similar benefits. He was to attend as many of these as possible east of the Mississippi river.

In going to Europe in April one of his chief desires was to attend the annual dinner of the Royal Geographical society in London, and to address the geographical societies in Paris, Berlin, Rome, Vienna, St. Petersburg, Antwerp and Edinburgh. He was to have remained abroad until June.

CHECKS "NO GOOD"

JOHN FREY IS CHARGED WITH HAVING CASHED THEM IN SEDALIA.

MR. C. H. RAIFFEISIN GOT $15 ONE

Another Business Man Also Victimized, but Money Was Returned —The Accused Is Now Under Surveillance.

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

John Frey, aged about 35, a son of the late J. J. Frey, at one time general superintendent of the M. K. & T. railway system, and later general manager of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railway, is under police surveillance in St Louis, and according to Chief of Police W. H. Boulit, a warrant will be issued at once for his arrest, charging him with cashing bogus checks.

Frey, who formerly lived in Sedalia, came here last Saturday. He made several attempts to have Sedalia merchants cash checks, and finally succeeded in cashing a worthless check for $15 at C. H. Raiffeisen's saloon.

Later the check was pronounced no good. Shortly afterwards Frey went to St. Louis, where he was located by Chief Boulit, and as soon as Prosecuting Attorney H. D. Dow issues a warrant for his arrest a Sedalia officer will go after the man.

After cashing the check at Raiffeisen's saloon, Frey cashed another worthless check at an Ohio avenue business house, but shortly afterward the proprietor learned the check was no good and located Frey, who returned the money he had fraudulently secured.

SOLICITED ADVERTISING FOR RAILWAY MAGAZINE THAT HAD NO EXISTENCE.

PICKED UP BY THE POLICE HERE

Pleaded Guilty Today to Having Obtained Money Under False Pretenses and Sent to Jail for Fifty-Five Days.

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

"Put me off the earth."

With these words fresh on his lips J. A. King, alias Lynch, a shabbily-dressed man of about 30, stood before Police Judge H. M. Gresham this forenoon, after pleading guilty to the charge of obtaining money by false pretenses.

"I've been on a protracted spree and am guilty of the charge," King said, when asked as to how he pleaded.

He was given fifty-five days in jail, following the recommendation of Prosecuting Attorney H. D. Dow.

King was arrested by the police at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon, charged with conducting a fake advertising scheme. He represented himself to be a locomotive fireman and solicited advertising at a small price for a proposed magazine, devoted exclusively to railroad work.

He collected small amounts, ranging from $1.65 to $2 from no less than eleven Sedalians to advertise their respective businesses in the magazine, and squandered the proceeds in saloons. That lead to his arrest.

SECOND SLIDE FATAL

Accident Victim Directs Rescue Till Killed in Second Mishap.

New York, Feb. 1.—Although buried under many tons of coal, Nicholas Nedendock superintended the work of his rescue for six hours yesterday, until 100 tons more of coal was precipitated upon him and he was crushed and smothered to death.

When Nedendock fell through a coal chute from an elevator on an East river pier, he was buried under the coal before it could be shut off.

Policemen, firemen and dock workmen labored at top speed during the six hours to shovel away the coal from him, conversing with him occasionally and receiving directions as to where to direct their energies.

The end came when the support of a coal bin collapsed and fully 100 tons of coal came down, killing Nedendock and burying two of the rescuers. These two were dug out, but were badly hurt.

PLACE OF PINCHOT

HENRY S. GRAVES TODAY HEADS FORESTRY BUREAU OF UNITED STATES.

HE IS A NATIVE OF MARIETTA, O.

Entered Yale College In 1892—Was the Second American to Enter the Profession—Has Made It a Success.

Washington, Feb. 1.—Henry S. Graves, appointed to succeed Gifford Pinchot, removed, today assumed the job as United States forester. Mr Graves was director of the Yale college forestry school, and for two years was assistant chief of the old division of forestry under Mr. Pinchot.

The new forester was born in Marietta, O., and brought up in Andover, Mass., where his father was for many years a member of the faculty of Phillips academy.

He prepared for college at this academy and entered Yale with the class of '92. In college he played quarterback on the 'varsity football team and gained high rank in scholarship. He was led to take up the study of forestry by Mr. Pinchot. After a course of graduate study at Harvard, he joined Mr. Pinchot at Biltmore, N. C., where, on the estate of George W. Vanderbilt, the first application of scientific forestry to American conditions was being made.

After his work at Biltmore, Mr. Graves went abroad for technical training in European professional schools of forestry, since no technical instruction in forestry was then attainable in this country. No other American, except Mr. Pinchot, had anticipated him in this step; indeed, he was the second American to enter the profession.

Mr. Graves' foreign studies were carried on under the most eminent of the old world foresters, Sir Dietrich Brandis, principal at Munich.

On his return to the United States he was associated with Mr. Pinchot in his office as consulting forester in New York City. When Mr. Pinchot became forester of the department of agriculture, in July, 1898, Mr. Graves became his first assistant. He conducted forest explorations and investigations in the west.

He left the forest service in 1900 to become the head of the Yale forest school. In the intervals of his work at Yale he made a number of trips in the national forests of the west, sometimes as adviser of the government and sometimes for private study of forestry problems.

"HELLO, TAFT," IS HEARD

President Enjoys Seeing Strangers, Stares and Second Looks.

Washington, Feb. 1—Talking as if he were merely a friend who had dropped in for a short chat, and not the president of the United States, William H. Taft yesterday revealed much of his personal side to the newspaper men of the national capital at an informal reception given him at the National Press club.

Prepared for a stroll along Pennsylvania avenue and several other thoroughfares of the city, which he took after he left the club, the president declared he found much pleasure in walking and looking in the shop windows.

He said he enjoyed seeing some person give him a long look and then look away, while the next person would give a second look and then poke his companion in the ribs, "and in the dignity paid by Americans to high office, call out, 'Hello, Taft.'"

A THREAT TO KILL WIFE

Resulted in Charles R. Barnett Landing in Jail.

(From Monday's Daily.)

Charles R. Barnett, who was arrested Saturday night for threatening to kill his divorced wife, was arraigned before Justice J. B. Rickman today, charged with that offense.

He entered a plea of guilty and was fined $10 and costs and given a jail sentence of 150 days. The sentence was stayed, however, on Barnett's promise to behave in the future.

"Hereafter, when you want to kill anybody, let me select the coffin, for I get a rebate on all such sales," Justice Rickman told the prisoner, after he had imposed sentence.

"Have you any chewing tobacco, Charlie," the judge asked the defendant as he was being taken to jail.

Barnett replied in the negative, and the judge, whose philanthropic disposition is quite noted, gave the prisoner his indivdual plug of the weed, with the admonition to behave after he had used all of it.

RICH IN TREASURE

JEWELS AND GOLD AND SILVER ORNAMENTS FOUND IN METAL TRUNKS.

ARE SAID TO BE WORTH $500,000

Police Were Searching for Proofs of a Treasonable Conspiracy When They Located Valuables in Roumania.

International News Service.

Vienna, Jan. 31.—Treasure said to be worth a hundred thousand pounds is reported to have been found in a cottage at Jassy, in Roumania.

The police had occasion to pay a visit to the dwelling of a peasant woman named Safta Gradinarin while searching for proofs of a treasonable conspiracy. They found several well made metal trunks, but instead of the papers they expected these contained an immense quantity of jewels and gold and silver ornaments.

The woman, who was arrested declared that they were brought to the house by her daughter, since dead, who was a servant in the employ of the late Prince Nicolai Ghika, at the end of the seventies.

The prince died after an operation in Paris, and in the confusion that reigned in his palace the trunks were smuggled away. The woman and her daughter had been afraid to sell the more important of the valuables for fear of detection, so these had remained untouched in the cottage for thirty years.

As far as the police can tell, this remarkable story appears to be true.

NATURE TELLS YOU

As Many a Sedalia Reader Knows Too Well.

When the kidneys are sick,
Nature tells you all about it.
The urine is nature's calendar.
Infrequent or too frequent action;
Any urinary trouble tells of kidney ills.

Sedalia people testify to this.

Mrs. Finira Weller, 1624 E. Fifth St., Sedalia, Mo., says: "Two years ago I was troubled a great deal by backache. I could not control the passages of the kidney secretions and also had inflammation of the bladder. When I read about Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box at Bard's drug store, although I had previously tried other remedies without finding the least relief. I was helped from the first, and before long was without a symptom of kidney trouble. As I have had no return of the complaint, I can safely say that Doan's Kidney Pills cured me permanently."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., New York, sole agents for the United States.

WOMAN TO PREACH

AT THE FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH ON SUNDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 6.

SERVICE IN CHARGE OF LADIES

Will Do the Preaching, Look After the Ushering, Take Up the Collection, and Make All Persons Welcome.

(From Monday's Daily)

There is one verse in the Bible which the members of the First Congregational church think does not apply to them, for at the service last evening the pastor, Rev. Harold Cooper, announced that the service next Sunday night will be in charge of the ladies of the church.

That verse is the one, "Let the women keep silence in the churches." This scripture, however, does not apply to the ladies of this age, but was especially made by Paul for a land where the women were supposed to keep silent while the men did all the talking.

Every part of the service except in the management of the stereopticon will be in charge of the ladies, even to the delivering of the sermon.

Miss Emma Landmann, assisted by the society of King's Daughters, will take charge of the ushering, while the committee on taking the offering will be Miss Nina Webster, Miss Marguerite McDaniels, Miss Mary Hurlbut and Miss E. A. Ludemann.

The committee in charge of the service will be Mrs. W E. Hurlbut, Mrs. Fannie Smith and Mrs. C. C. McDaniels. There are so many good lady preachers in connection with the church, and all so anxious to fill that position, that it has been difficult to make final arrangements at this time, but the "preacheress" will be announced later.

A large collection of lantern slides has been shipped from New York for this service, and the only part that Rev. Cooper will have will be to take charge of the stereopticon to see that the light does not give out.

Dr. Caroline Hedger Would Teach Children Care of Babies.

Chicago. Ill., Jan. 31.—Dr. Edna Day head professor of the home economics department of the Missouri University, who two weeks ago started a class for instruction in the care of babies, has a warm champion in Dr. Caroline Hedger, of Chicago, who in an address delivered before mothers from the stock yards district yesterday advocated the establishment of such a curriculum in the public schools of Chicago.

"It is time," said Dr. Hedger, "to teach our boys and girls how to take care of babies. There is no better place to do this than in the public schools, and I would suggest that a competent nurse be stationed at each of the institutions, whose duty it will be to explain to the girls, and boys as well, the proper manner in which to clothe and feed babies."

ASKS A RECEIVER

FORMER ASSESSOR CHARLES D. BROWN IS THE PLAINTIFF IN CASE.

ALDERMAN BROWN IS DEFENDANT

Dissolution of Copartnership Desired and Some Disinterested Party Named to Settle the Business.

(From Monday's Daily)

J. M. Brown, one of the First ward aldermen, was made the defendant in a suit instituted in circuit court today by C. D. Brown, former county assessor, wherein the latter asks for a dissolution of the partnership in the Creoline Manufacturing company and the Browning Roofing company, and also for the appointment of a receiver to dispose of the assets and divide equally the cash realized from the same.

The petition was filed by the plaintiff's attorney, A. L. Shortridge.

In it Mr. Brown alleges he purchased a one-half interest in the Creoline and Browning Roofing companies, with the understanding that the stock was to be invoiced and sold to him at cost price.

According to the petition, defendant sold his new partner, C. D. Brown, a quantity of "mirbane" at $1 a pound, which originally cost 9½c a pound.

The plaintiff further states that the alderman will not conduct the business in a workmanlike manner, as it should be done, to net a profit, in consequence of which he asks for the dissolution of the partnership and appointment of a receiver.

TO INVESTIGATE A BANK

Resolution Was Introduced in the Oklahoma House.

Guthrie, Okla., Jan. 31.—A resolution introduced in the house today by Mr. Humphrey demands an investigation of the failed Columbia Bank and Trust Co., and calls upon Attorney General West to bring before the legislature matters which he had previously stated were being considered by a grand jury at Oklahoma City, when that body was discharged by order of Governor Haskell. The resolution was based upon a letter written by Mr. West criticising the acts of certain state officials. The resolution says:

"Such charges, if true, might subject the governor of this state to impeachment, and officers to whom reference is made to impeachment or removal."

Baldwin is a large grower of peaches, and yesterday said that he had been talking with other peach growers in the county about the prospects of a large crop, and that they are all hopeful of a good season. The peach crop last year was very small.

Rev. Murphy, before coming west to take up the ministry, held a professorship in a Lutheran college in Ohio, and it was during his college career that Rev. The meeting here yesterday between the two was a happy one, it being the first since Rev. Murphy left Springfield, O.

In a brief talk to the congregation, after the regular services last night, Rev. Murphy indulged in reminiscences as regards Rev. Sifferd, and paid the new pastor a glowing compliment.

During the day four new members were enrolled on the church roster

ONE WHO WAS BEATEN IN CHICAGO LAUDS HUSBAND IN COURT.

SHE ASSERTS THAT HE DID RIGHT

Mrs. Duffy Says Husband Who Does Not Beat Wife Is Unmanly and Not Worthy of the Title of "Liege Lord."

Chicago, Jan. 31.—"If my husband didn't beat me up ever so often, I'd think he didn't love me any more.

"A man's not a man who won't show that he is the boss of his own home by beating his wife once in a while.

"My husband is the best man on earth, and I'll allow no one to say a word against him."

This is the spirit that guides the household of Peter Duffy, following his release from the bonds of law by Judge Crowe. The above remarks were made by Mary Duffy before the court.

It is alleged that Duffy has periodical predelictions for abusing his helpmeet. The little woman never complained, but neighbos did and the result was that Duffy faced Judge Crowe. The wife took the stand She elucidated the philosophy of her life. The accused nodded his head approvingly.

"I've often heard it said that women love best the hand that beats them," said Judge Crowe, "but I never before heard a woman admit the fact. You are the judge in this case, Mrs. Duffy. The prisoner is discharged."

Arm in arm Mr. and Mrs. Duffy left the court room.

SENSATIONAL SUIT

The petition says Paxton falsely, wickedly and maliciously, and intending to vex, oppress, impoverish and wholly ruin Dr. Hyde, made the statement that Hyde was guilty of poisoning Col. Thomas Swope and Chrisman Swope.

Hyde is related by marriage to the Swopes, having married a daughter of Mrs. Logan Swope.

GIRL WAS RUINED

THE FRIGHTFUL EXPERIENCE OF MISS HELEN RAYNOR IN MICHIGAN.

MICHIGAN MAIDEN MISTREATED

A "Heathen Chinee" Then Sent for His Celestial Friends and Sold Her to All Who Were Willing to Pay Him.

Battle Creek, Mich., Jan. 31.—Charges of "white slavery" existent in a chain of Michigan cities were made under oath here Saturday afternoon by Miss Helen Raynor, one of three local girls involved in an affair alleged to have taken place at Lem Loy's Chinese restaurant here.

Startling testimony was offered, though the Raynor girl admits that she fears the Chinamen will murder her for her revelations.

Lem Loy, Frank Lem and Mrs. Maude Lem, the latter a white woman, faced Miss Raynor in Justice Batdorff's court, as she told how, with the knowledge of Mrs. Lem, Lem took her to the Lem residence on Liberty street and effected her ruin. He then took her back to his restaurant, she swears, and gave her $3.

The occurrence was repeated afterward in Lem's "den," the girl claiming that "doped" cigarettes made her dazed and scarcely conscious of what was going on.

Then Lem began sending out of town for his Chinese friends to come, every visitor paying for the privlege.

Joe Grime, of Ann Arbor, was named as one of the four to be invited here by Lem for lewd purposes. Lem Kin, from South Haven, was next. After that the Raynor girl became common property.

The memorable trip to Kalamazoo, Jackson, Owosso, Ann Arbor, Saginaw, Durand and Lansing chop suey restaurants and laundries followed, until the girl, with Bertha Clement, her chum, was arrested at Ann Arbor.

PAUPER HAD WILL

MAY PROVE EDWARD FLEMMING WEALTHY, BUT JUDGE CANNOT READ IT.

WAS RESIDENT OF COOPER COUNTY

Member of One of the Most Exclusive German Families and Had Served in the Franco-Prussian War.

Boonville, Mo., Jan. 31.—On Sept. 26, 1909, Edward Flemming died at the home of Mrs. Katerine F. Kleg, about seven miles south of Boonville.

He was considered a pauper at the time of his death, and it is asserted that only the kindness and generosity of the Geraman settlers about Boonville kept him from the poor house.

It was known that he had served in the Franco-Prussian war, being a member of one of the most exclusive German regiments. It was also supposed that he was receiving a pension from the German government, although that was never definitely known.

Saturday morning the probate judge of Cooper county received a letter from the German consul in St. Louis, inclosing the will of Flemming.

He requested that the will be probated and a certified copy sent to the relatives in Germany. The will was made in Boonville in 1902 and was witnessed by Edward Garthoffner and C. Farne, German farmers living near Boonville.

It was written in German and a very poor hand. What it disposes is not known, as the probate judge is not a German scholar and is experiencing considerable difficulty in finding some one to interpret it.

From the letter of the consul it was learned that the family is one of considerable wealth in Germany, holding much real estate. It was also learned that two sisters are living. Meanwhile, it is a question whether Flemming really died a pauper or was a man of means Germans around Boonville are inclined to believe the man had plenty of money.

CONDITIONS GETTING BETTER

River Seine at Paris Fell Two Feet Today—Loss of Life Small.

Paris, Jan. 31.—The situation at critical points in the city was ameliorated to a considerable extent today, notably in the neighborhood of St. Lazare station, and preparations have been perfected for cleansing and disinfecting the city. Official announcement was made of a fall of two feet in the river up to noon today.

The sidewalk from Lazare station fell into the subway today, but no one was hurt. The small loss of life during the period of the flood is surprising.

Exciting rowboat chases after criminals on the outskirts of the city occurred during last night. In several instances Apaches were fired upon by pursuers and three were shot dead. Two others were hanged from lamp posts, as examples of the fate in store for those detected in acts of pillage and violence.

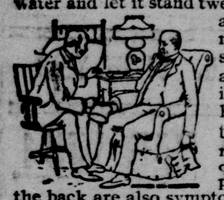
Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with you water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a brick dust sediment, or settling, stringy or milky appearance often indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back are also symptoms that tell you the kidneys and bladder are out of order and need attention.



What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills almost every wish in correcting rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. WOMAN MURDERED

THIS IS QUESTION PEOPLE OF RAY COUNTY ARE TRYING TO SOLVE.

HER HOME DISCOVERED ON FIRE

Considerable Mystery Surrounds the Death of Mrs. Irene Heath in Her Home Near Rayville on Saturday Last.

Rayville, Mo., Jan. 31.—Mystery surrounds the death of Mrs. Irene Heath, the aged woman whose body was found in the flames of her own home, one and one-half miles northwest of Rayville, Ray county, Saturday at 12 o'clock.

The rescuing party, composed of neighbors of the dead woman, hurried to the scene of the burning house, but too late to remove the body from the flames. It was seen by the first parties who reached the place that her body was covered with straw, apparently that of a straw mattress, which was a mass of flames.

Water from a well a few yards away was dashed upon the burning straw continuously until the fire had burned low enough to remove the remains of the dead woman, which were burned beyond recognition.

The remains were removed late in the afternoon to the home of a son, Bird Heath, a quarter of a mile away, and the county coroner, Hannibal Harris, was notified, and came within a few hours. He insisted on holding no inquest and returned home Saturday night.

It is believed by relatives and friends that the woman was murdered and the house set on fire. Among evidences of the murder was the burning straw over her body and the family Bible, which her head rested upon when found.

She also kept quite a sum of money in gold and silver hidden away at her home at all times, and the local banker reports that she had received in payment of stock and other products of her farm at several times during the last few months several hundred dollars, which she generally insisted upon getting in gold. It is the opinion of relatives and others that from $300 to $400 was hidden in a fruit jar in the house at the time it burned.

A party of searchers, headed by Constables J. C. Lamar and J. J. Swafford, went to the scene of the tragedy Sunday morning and searched in the ruins for the money, but the only money found was $1.90, which apparently had been in a small purse inside a trunk.

A clue has been found and heavy suspicion rests upon one party as being guilty of the murder, but up to late last afternoon no arrest had been made.

Rayville is a small town of about 300 inhabitants, located nine miles east of Richmond, the county seat of Ray county, on the Lexington Junction and St. Joseph branch of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad.

DEATH OF MRS. SIGMAN

Former Resident of Sedalia Died in Illinois.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

The friends of Mrs. E. W. Sigman, who was a resident of Sedalia for several years, will regret to learn of her death on January 22, 1910, at the home of her mother, Mrs. Wooldridge Ellison, in Collinsville, Ill.

The body was laid to rest in the family lot in Glenwood cemetery, with the beautiful ceremonies of the M. E. church and the Royal Neighbors of America. The pallbearers were the friends of her youth, and her funeral was largely attended by relatives and others who appreciated her beautiful Christian character, and pure and spotless life.

Mrs. Sigman was the mother of Anita Sigman, who died in Sedalia some years ago, and also of Eldred and Elberta Sigman, the twin children whom friends in Sedalia will remember.

Mrs. Sigman was a member of the Fifth Street M. E church, South, and was prominent in religious and social circles; and while she had great sorrows of her own she always had a kind word and an open hand to the poor and sorrowing. She died as she had lived.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

SUFFRAGETTE MOVEMENT HAS NOT GROWN IN ENGLAND THE PAST YEAR.

IS UNPOPULAR WITH THE MASSES

The Pluck of the Women in the Face of Hostile Crowds Something Remarkable—Risks Taken by Miss Pankhurst.

International News Service.

London, Jan. 29.—If present appearances go, for anything the suffragette movement is no further advanced than it was a year ago. In fact, many male sympathizers declare that the "votes for women" sisterhood is more unpopular than ever with the masses.

Although the dukes were interrupted and howled down at most of their recent meetings, the suffragettes came in for even wors treatment, and a great many cases of personal injuries have found their way into the newspapers.

The pluck of the women in the face of hostile crowds has been remarkable.

During the recent election at Leicester several girl speakers were pelted with rotten eggs and cabbages, but they stood their ground, and one of the women received a severe blow in the eye from a carrot thrown by a young Hooligan.

Miss Christabel Pankhurst.

Strange to say, Miss Christabel Pankhurst has so far escaped injury, in spite of the fact that she has taken every kind of risk. Her sense of humor has saved her on many occasions and her musical voice is liked by the crowds.

As a rule, she has a ready retort for every heckler, but her speech the other night at Brixton was completely spoiled by a heckler, who caused the crowd to roar with laughter for so long that Miss Pankhurst had to give up the struggle.

There had been several lively interruptions concerning the usual baby question.

"Now," said Miss Pankhurst, triumphantly, "we will come to the baby. When women get the vote—"

"God help the baby!" shouted a meek looking male at the back of the hall. And after that further speech was out of the question, and Miss Pankhurst was escorted from the platform by two gallant policemen.

This has made Mr. McCormack's net profit about $18 a month. He is going back to the farm, thoroughly cured of office holding.

MYSTERY IN CRIME

WESTERN MORGAN COUNTY HAS A SENSATION OF MONUMENTAY PROPORTIONS.

IS THE WORK OF AN UNKNOWN MAN

For Twenty Years He Has Robbed and Burned or Maimed Animals, but No Trace of Him Has Ever Been Found.

Versailles, Mo., Jan. 31.—The western part of Morgan county is in a state of terror over the operations of a mysterious criminal who has been operating there and defying detection for twenty years.

Theft, arson and the wanton maiming of animals are charged to him, and so frequently have these crimes been committed in the last year that a number of farmers have sold out at a loss and moved out of the state.

The western part of the county is fifteen miles from a railroad. It is settled largely by sturdy farmers of German descent, honest and law-abiding.

Some one among them is a criminal, but try as they might, they never have been able to fasten the guilt upon any man, even to get a shred of evidence. Every grand jury for years has tried to obtain evidence, but without avail.

For twenty years the farmers have been harassed by theft upon theft, house and barn burnings and stock killings. These outrages are not of periodical occurrence, but they are continually occurring, a half dozen or more cases having been reported recently.

Corn by the wagon load has been stolen time and again from the cribs and the fields. Wheat by the sackful and the wagonful have been stolen from the granaries and the threshing yards. Smokehouses have been robbed of meat in retail and wholesale quantities. Chickens and turkeys by the dozen have slipped away from their rightful owners and yet the robber hasn't left a trace behind.

Cattle and other live stock have been shot down in the woods in broad day light. Cattle and horses have come up off the pasture with their tails cut off close to the body.

One day last summer a calf came up to its home with its tongue cut off. Considerable live stock was thus maimed or killed in the last year.

Monday night of last week a farmer's barn, containing all of his hay and other feed, as well as many farming implements, was burned to the ground and his telephone line was put out of commission so that he could not notify his neighbors of the fire.

All manner of merchandise is found hidden in the woods by the farmers of that locality. Recently a graphophone, new from the store, was found by some hunters hidden in a tree top, far from any residence. In a hollow log was found some horse blankets and fly nets. In another place, at another time, there was found some new harness, robes and blankets.

GOOD SHOW IS COMING

"The Servant in the House" will be presented by the Henry Miller Associate Players here at Wood's theater on February 12, those players including Creston Clarke, Clay Clement, Lizzie Hudson Collier and others well known throughout the country.

Few plays have received such commendation as this one. The staid New York Evening Post called it "The best example of dramatic work now extant." The Theater Magazine said: "The Servant in the House" is like a fresh breeze that enters through an open window and expels some of the fetid atmosphere of the theater."

MANY ENCOURAGING WORDS

Those in Charge of Day Nursery Receive Substantial Offers of Aid.

(From Sunday's Daily)

Ned Spencer, knowing how deeply interested some of the women are who are working upon the scheme to establish a day nursery and hospital for poor children, phoned one of the hardest workers Saturday that he was thoroughly in sympathy with the project and then and there offered his check for a goodly sum. Of course, matters have not as yet assumed sufficient definiteness as to need any money to help it along, but this offer holds good and can be accepted at any time. If Mr. Spencer knew how much good his words of encouragement did this woman who has the scheme so much at heart he would be very pleased that he acted as he did.

A prominent lady, a recent comer to Sedalia, also gave encouragement to the nursery workers and promised a check when called on.

Actions like these are indeed helpful to those who are working for the betterment of those who are less fortunate than themselves.

HOLDEN EDITOR CAME TO SEDALIA SUNDAY TO DIG UP A "SENSATION."

A GIRL FROM THERE IN THE CASE

Married Theatrical "Promoter" Who Had Checks But Very Little Ready Cash—Now Living at La Junta, Colo.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

C. L. Hobart, editor of the Holden Progress, who spent last Sunday in Sedalia running down a news item in which a Holden girl figured as one of the principals, and which had a Sedalia chapter, had the following in the issue of his paper of Thursday, January 27:

When Miss Kathryn Howard left Holden in October to go to Emporia, Kan., she started a train of experiences which it is doubtful if any other Holden girl would like to duplicate.

She went to Emporia to play the piano for a man whose stage name was given as "Billy Slater" and whose occupation seemed to be (a part of the time at least) coaching home talent entertainments, usually under the auspicious of the Elks.

From Emporia comes the word that while there he had absolutely no idea of money. His personal expenses in a few weeks were $150 more than the proceeds of the show and the show took in good money for two nights. But the Elks felt the responsibility of the affair and paid all his debts without a grimace.

The next heard of "Slater" and Miss Howard was at Hutchinson, Kan., where he tried to put on his show, but was turned down. After passing a check, purported to have been signed by a third party, on the Schuman Piano Co. there, he left town, leaving Miss Howard stranded at the Hotel Midland, which still holds his trunks (at least it did on Jan. 25, the latest information we have). After a few days Miss Howard received a money order, which enabled her to leave town and her personal baggage was shipped to Holden.

On Tuesday, Nov. 23, Slater and Miss Howard passed through Holden en route to Fulton to visit her sister, who was attending school there. Slater was introduced to some of her friends as the train stood here.

From this point, Slater's movements are hard to trace definately. Miss Howard was around Holden considerably, but she was in Higginsville a few days in the early part of December, playing at the electric theatre that E. W. Hinote opened there.

Slater, according to the Higginsville papers, spent most of his time there. He had negotiated for a half interest in Chamblin's Electric Theater, but failed to close the deal on account of insufficient cash.

Notwithstanding this he (according to one of the papers) "made himself a conspicious figure around the show for two weeks." During his stay in Higginsville he worked his hot air machine to a frazzle. He had a "pleasing personality", which was really his most valuable asset. He passed himself off as "Howard Wilson, of St. Louis, a capitalist," and connected with more capital.

He "worked" the paper there, run by a Kansas City journalist, for a column write-up of the $18,000 opera house he would build, $10,000 to be of his own money. He was flush with money, cigars and highly saccharinated hot air.

In the meantime, however, he was trying to get credit from local merchants, evidently with some success. Some time before Christmas he left town. One of the papers says:

"He left unostentatiously; he didn't stop to leave his new address; he didn't stop to pay his hotel bill; he simply left for parts unknown."

The Higginsville papers managed to dig up three of his numerous names, Howard Wilson," "Wm. H. Wilson," and "Howard Davidson."

On Dec. 22, "Wilson went to Sedalia, where he met a young woman, answering to the description of Miss Howard, both as to personal appearance and ability to play the piano.

The pair were in Sedalia two days as man and wife. She played the piano in the hotel lobby and was pronounced a crackerjack by the guests.

Before leaving Sedalia he passed three checks, one for about $15 on the hotel and two on a big dry goods house for about $30 for articles for "his wife."

These checks were returned protested, and there is now a warrant in Sedalia for Wilson. But the prosecuting attorney, on account of the expense incident to getting the fellow from another state, is averse to push matters. None of these checks were in excess of $30, the felony limit.

On Dec. 11, he had established his credit at this hotel by paying the board bill of two stranded musicians, whom he sent to "his" theatre in Higginsville. He passed a check this time which was apparently good, so on the 23rd, when he handed over a $15 check on his bill for himself and wife, the hotel keeper returned $10 in change without a question.

The Progress said that Miss Howard spent Wednesday, Dec.22, in Sedalia. She told a friend that she played in Knob Noster that night and stayed with a friend. The next day, Thursday the 23rd, she was on train No. 1 and did not stop at Holden. A friend, to whom she talked on the train, said she did not get on at Warrensburg; so she must have got on at Sedalia, for No. 1 does not even hesitate at Knob Noster.

Miss Howard sent word home from this train that she was going to Pleasant Hill and would return on the evening train and stop at an uncle's in Strasburg. This was not true, for the next day, Friday, Dec. 24th, about 4 p. m., she was married to this man, whose name had now grown to "Wm. E. H. Davis," and his address to Pittsburg, Pa.

She sent word back that they were going to Colorado on their wedding trip. Letters have since been received, which would intimate they are living in LaJunta, at least the letters are postmarked "LaJunta."

The Higginsville papers stated that "Wilson" had been arrested several days ago in Topeka, but information from the chief of police and sheriff there show this to be incorrect.

CHANGE THE RULES

PRESIDENT TAFT MAY BE WILLING AFTER CONGRESS PASSES HIS MEASURES.

AT PRESENT HE OPPOSES THE PLAN

Insurgents, However, Seem to Have Strength Enough to Bring About Reforms in Spite of the Executive's Objections.

International News Service.

Washington, Jan. 29.—President Taft has put the brakes on the insurgent movement to take Speaker Cannon from the committee on rules. He told Judge Goebe and Nicholas Longworth, of the Ohio delegation, today, that he thought all agitation for changes in the rules should cease until the legislative reforms to which the party stood committed shall have been passed.

The president made it clear that he will insist on the passage of the laws he has recommended at once. After this work is done the president is said to have declared he has no objection to a discussion over changes of the house rules.

Friends of the president assert he is inclined to think it wisdom to make some changes, but has not committed himself to the plan of enlargement of the committee and the ineligibility of the speaker to serve on it.

The insurgents, under the leadership of Hayes, of California, are working for an immediate change in the rules along the lines of the Fowler resolution, enlarging the committee from five to nine or eleven members, the new members to be elected by the house.

It is believed that this committee would be representative of the house and would be a fair steering committee for the majority. The insurgents are divided on the necessity for taking Cannon off the committee. Many regulars have lined up with Hayes, and it seems probable that some change is to be made.

"STRIKER" TO PRISON

"You and Your Kind Keep This Thing Going," the Judge Said.

Philadelphia, Jan. 31.—Miss Martha Gruening, an attractive young postgraduate student at Bryn Mawr college, was arraigned before Magistrate Scott Saturday and was held in $500 bail. She is charged with inciting to riot in the shirt waist strike.

Miss Gduening was arrested in front of the shirt waist factory of Samuel Epstein when a squad of policemen had been rushed to the establishment to quell a disturbance in which the Bryn Mawr girl and several strikers are said to have been involved. Miss Gruening, it is said, bore a sign demanding justice for the union girls.

"I was merely at the factory that I might see if arrests were unjustly made," Miss Gruening explained to the magistrate. "I found that they were. I was doing nothing for which I may rightfully be punished."

The magistrate grew indignant. "It's the women of your class, not the actual strikers," he said, "who have stirred up all this strife. Had you and your kind kept out of this fight it would have been over long ago. I will hold you in $500 bail."

Failing to get bail, she was taken to Moyamensing prison. Miss Gruening's home is in New York.

CARD GAMES NOT WRONG

Youngstown Minister Also Says He Loves a Horse Race.

Youngstown, O., Jan. 31.—Rev. Abner L. Fraser, pastor of St. John's Episcopal church, takes exception to what Evangelist Billy Sunday says about card playing.

Mr. Fraser says it is no worse to play a game with the ace, jack, etc., than it was to play with matched cards or authors. He further said he did not believe a man had a right to preach against dancing. "People prate against horse racing," said Mr. Fraser; "for my part I love a beautiful horse and see no harm in a horse race for pure sport."

Mr. Fraser said the harm in such things comes from carrying them to excess. However, he said that attending religious metings might become wrongful under the same conditions. He declared it was wrong for women to go to religious meetings to the neglect of their homes and children.

A WOMAN SNEAK THIEF

Visits Houses to "Fix Skirt," and Steals Small Articles.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 31—A tall, slender woman, attractively attired, is working a new game in Kansas City. Not caring to take any chances on breking locks or "manipulating" windows, she goes to residences and asks permission to enter on the pretense that she wishes to pin up her skirt.

Once admitted she asks the lady of the house for a pin, and when the accommodating one goes into an adjoining room to get the desired article, the woman steals whatever she can, awaits Milady's return, accepts the pin, fixes the skirt and departs.

In one instance it is reported that she took a pocketbook containing $8 and in another instance she "lifted" a diamond ring. The woman visited houses on the south side last week and yesterday afternoon complaints came from residents in the vicinity of Fifteenth and Prospect.

One of the fortunate ones is Clarkson J. Bright, of Columbia, Mo., a member of the first graduating class. He was made cadet lieutenant and commander of the Tenth company, Second battalion of the midshipmen.

He succeeds W. S. Nichols, of New Jersey, and only by his splendid work has he been able to win the honor.

As it is not certain that the fire in the mine is extinguished, nothing definite toward the recovery of the bodies will be planned until experts protected with oxygen helmets have explored the shaft.

Mosby, Mo., Jan. 31.—Residents of this vicinity are making every effort to have the postoffice, which was recently discontinued by the government, reopened. MAY BE ARRESTS

SWOPE FAMILY DETERMINED TO FORCE PROSECUTION IN POISON CASE.

SAYS ENOUGH EVIDENCE FOUND

Absence of Poison in the Stomachs, It Is Pointed Out, Doesn't Preclude Its Presence Elsewhere.

Kansas City, Jan. 29.—Development in the Swope case today make it apparently certain that the Swope family attorneys have decided to proceed with the prosecution if they can obtain the co-operation of the prosecuting attorney's office.

Dr. B F. Zwart, the county coroner, will go to Chicago with attorneys for the Swope family and confer with the chemists. An inquest will be held when he returns. It probably will begin Tuesday. The prosecutor might act independently of the coroner, but it is probable he will wait for the inquest developments. Any way he will do nothing until the full report of the chemists is known.

That the absence of poison in the stomachs of Thomas H. Swope and Chrisman Swope will have little effect in contemplated prosecutions was indicated this morning by a representative of the Swope family. He said:

"It isn't always poison in the stomach that kills a man. It's the poison in the body. That poison could be found in the liver or in any other of the abdominal regions. And if the one who administered it was a person who deliberated upon the subject and who had made his plans regarding the killing of Thomas Swope and Chrisman Swope, that poison would have been given in a way, I believe, that would have taken it to some other part of the body than the stomach. And practically the whole case will hinge on whether enough poison to produce death was found."

It is believed that this will form the theory of prosecution if an arrest is made. The attorneys for the Swope family are going to Chicago tomorrow night, accompanied by Dr. Zwart.

Neither John G. Paxton nor John H. Atwood, the attorneys for the Swope family, would talk on the coming developments in the case this morning.

"The case has been tried too much in the newspapers already," Mr. Paxton said.

"There seems to be an idea," Mr. Atwood said, "that the Swope family is seeking a prosecution. This is untrue, for nothing would please the family more than the knowledge that there was nothing to the case to make a prosecution necessary. As to any developments which may have come within the last few days, I can say nothing. I am not even saying that there have been any developments."

A friend of the Swope family was asked this morning if the prosecuting attorney had given any assurance that there would be an arrest and a prosecution.

"It is my belief that there has been no such assurance given," he said. "However, it is my opinion that those who have been investigating the case believe they have enough evidence to go ahead with safety and it is my belief that there will be an arrest and a trial. As to what the basis of the trial will be I do not believe the prosecution will try to show that there was poison in the stomach. Rather, I believe, it will endeavor to show that poison was administered by skillful methods which would allow poison to penetrate the abdominal regions and produce death by that way, leaving no trace, however, in the stomach—the place which is always most readily examined for traces of death bringing substances.

"I believe the coroner's inquest will have much to do with the winding up—temporarily—of this case. The evidence that has been gathered by the attorneys for the Swopes will be submitted, of course, and if then, in the opinion of the six men who will hear that evidence there was guilt in the deaths of Thomas Swope and Chrisman Swope, the verdict will be made acordingly. However, if there is an arrest made, I don't believe it will come until after the coroner's inquest."

DILLON GOT ROPER'S JOB

Star Quarterback Coach Missouri University Football Team.

Columbia, Mo., Jan. 29.—Edward Dillon, Princeton, 1908, former quarterback and captain of the Nassau eleven, has been selected by the Athletic committee of the University of Missouri to coach its 1910 football team.

The salary has not been made public, but it is believed to be $2500 or over.

Dillon was for three years a star quarterback for Princeton. His retention means the continuation of the Princeton style of football so successfully taught by Bill Roper last fall, when Missouri university won the Missouri Valley championship.

Roper will return to Columbia for the last two weeks of the season, as Princeton ends her schedule two weeks earlier than western schedule teams. He will assist Dillon put the team in shape for the Thanksgiving game with Kansas.

BOOM FOR PETTIS

E. W. SHULTZ RETURNS FROM LAND AND IMMIGRATION CONGRESS MEETING.

CENTRAL MISSOURI ADVERTISED

Sedalia Real Estate Dealer Handed Out Literature That Will Be Heard from With Good Results Later Along.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

E. W. Shultz, of Shultz & Herold, and wife, returned Saturday from attending the Land and Immigration congress at Springfield, Mo., and reports that it was a monumental success in every particular.

While there, Mr. Shultz distributed more than one hundred of the illustrated booklets issued by Botz & Simpson a few months ago, descriptive of Sedalia, and also a poem, "Missouri!" written by Judge H. B. Shain, of this city.

The Springfield newspapers gave considerable space to Mr. Shultz's efforts in behalf of Sedalia and Pettis county, the Leader of Friday afternoon having the following:

While Pettis county has no exhibit at the land congress, a number of her progressive citizens are in attendance and are sparing no efforts to boost the resources of that portion of the state.

Among the Pettis county visitors in attendance from Sedalia are John T. Stinson, secretary of the Missouri state fair; N. H. Gentry, of the board of directors of the state fair and prominent stock breeder; E. W. Shultz, an enterprising real estate dealer and in charge of the plans to boost Pettis county; Senator Holmes Hall and J. W. McClain, passenger and ticket agent for the Missouri Pacific. Mr. Shultz is accompanied by his wife.

"The Pettis county delegation is here to boost Pettis county first, and then Missouri," said Mr. Shultz today. "We are justly proud of our resources and want the people of the world to know that the hand of welcome to come within the borders of our county and help us in the development of our little empire. Pettis county land raises anything. A deal was closed only Monday for the sale of a tract of land at $150 an acre. Can any county beat that, and the land is worth every cent asked for it."

Mr. Shultz is distributing souvenirs of scenes in Sedalia and parts of Pettis county.

UNCLE SAM'S EXPORTS

The Figures Presented Are Almost Beyond Belief.

Associated Press.

Washington, Jan. 29.—The exports of farm products from the United States increased from an average of $150,000,000 yearly during the period from 1851 to 1855 to more than $1,000,000,000 in 1908.

The increase in exports was greater than the increase in population. The chief products exported during the last half century have been cotton, grain and packing house products.

The packing house products increased from $10,000,000 in the 1851 to 1855 period to $196,000,000 in 1908.

MURDER OF THIRTY

MODERN ITALY'S MOST NOTORIOUS BANDIT IS NOW A RAVING MANIAC.

CRIMES OF GIUSEPPE MUSOLINO

Eight Years' Solitary Confinement in the Depths of the Florentine Prison Resulted in Dethronement of Reason.

BY EDUARDO BENTINO.

International News Service.

Rome, Italy, Jan. 29.—Almost entirely forgotten by the people of the outside world, the exploits of Guiseppe Musolino, modern Italy's most notorious bandit, are again recalled by his removal a few days ago from the underground dungeon in the government prison at Florence, where he has been confined since 1902, to the criminal insane asylum at Montupo.

Eight years solitary confinement in the depths of the Florentine prison, where he was sentenced for life, following an almost unprecedented career of crime, has deprived Muslino of his reason, and when taken from the dungeon on January 18 he was a raving maniac.

For eighteen months this daring criminal shouted his defiance to the Italian government from his haunts in the Calabrian hills, and sneered at the army sent against him. Now and then he would turn up in some mountain village, and the following morning his pursuers would discover the bloody remnants of his presence. In all, thirty murders are laid at his door and a countless number of robberies and other outrages. Hunted from place to place like a wild beast, he always managed to elude his pursuers with the aid of the peasantry.

It was while walking along the streets of Urbino, like a peaceful citizen, that he was finally captured on October 16, 1901. Then followed his sensational trial, which became of international interest, because of the picturesque career of the prisoner, and the many daring attempts he had made to escape from prison. The innumerable feats of daredevilry with which he was credited made him a popular hero, and in spite of the long list of crimes laid at his door, public sympathy, especially among the middle and lower classes, was overwhelmingly with him during the trial. He was finally convicted, however, and as the Italian law does not permit capital punishment he was sentenced to life imprisonment on June 11, 1902, being only 27 years of age.

Opinions differ as to the reason why Musolino became an outlaw, but it is generally believed that his career was the result of an alleged injustice that was done him by the government in his early youth.

He was born at Santo Stefano, a little mountain village in the province of Reggio Calabria. His father, assisted by Guiseppe's two sisters, kept a little wine shop.

Guiseppe, like the celebrated English brigand, Robin Hood, began life as a woodman, but he differed entirely in character from the legendary English outlaw, having been from childhood remarkable for his sentimental and morose disposition.

He was a lover of outdoor life, with a free, roaming spirit, and grew up strong and independent and was, in his own mind, perfectly happy.

It was about 1887 when the mind of the harmless woodman was changed to that of a vindictive and inexorable avenger of wrongs. This all occurred in the course of an evening. Muslino was sitting peacefully in his father's cottage, when Vincenzo Zocali, a comrade, with whom he had a slight disagreement the day previous, called, and upon the pretext that they would celebrate their reconciliation, invited him to come out. Upon doing so Musolino was attacked by Zocali and three confederates with knives and was wounded in thirty different places, his hands being hacked ad cut in his attempt to ward off the blows. Fortunately, a cousin of Musolino came to the rescue and his assailants took to flight.

The following day Zocalli, who had not been arrested, filed a complaint against Musolino, charging that he had been shot at upon opening his barn door one evening, and that Musolino was the one that tried to kill him. At the trial Musolino was sentenced to twenty-one years' imprisonment, despite the fact that his hands were so badly damaged that he could not possibly hold a gun.

As the verdict was pronounced, Musolino's sweetheart, who was at the trial, fell in a faint, muttering, "He is innocent." The shock was so severe that she died shortly afterward.

Then Musolino, turning to Zocalli, with a face set and as white as marble, said to him:

"Hear me, Zocalli. I shall be 42 when I come out of prison, but, remember that if you were hidden in the bowels of the earth, I shall seek you out and eat your treacherous heart. And, if you be dead, I shall kill every one of your children."

Musolino was placed in prison in the same room with seven other prisoners, which was contrary to the rules. Fortunately for him, the director of the jail was a member of the secret society with which Musolino was also connected.

Musolino awoke one morning with a strange dream to relate to his fellow prisoners. He said he had dreamt that St. Joseph appeared before him and pointed out a way by which he could escape by making a hole in the wall at the foot of his bed. Being of a superstitious nature, his companions were elated by Musolino's dream, and for eight days they worked incessantly, concealing their progress so cleverly that the prison authorities failed to detect it. They finally burrowed their way through the wall, to meet with a huge boulder, which blocked their way to freedom.

But Musolino immediately told his comrades that St. Joseph had also showed him how to overcome this obstacle. After digging around the bottom of the stone with a hook which had been brought in by one of the prisoners and by which they had dug the hole in the wall, they finally loosened it, and they succeeded in getting it into the room, after superhuman exertions. With it came a gust of cool night air—it was the 9th of January—showing that they had penetrated the prison wall. The escape of Musolino and three of his companions created an extraordinary sensation, and Musolino was immediately taken by the simple-minded peasantry to be an object of supernatural favor.

Free again, Musolino immediately proceeded to execute his plans for vengeance. And what a horrible vengeance it was!

Within three days he visited his native village and posted a letter to the authorities, telling them he only intended to punish those who were responsible for his false imprisonment and the death of his sweetheart.

A whole family were his first victims—the father, mother and son, who were found dead in the field where they had been plowing. He maintained that they were bribed to give false evidence against him.

A reward of $2,000 was then offered for the capture of Musolino, dead or alive. Tempted by this, a peasant named Anglone armed himself with a magazine rifle and revolver and stalked forth in search of Musolino, night and day.

One evening, on returning home for a few hours' rest, he was met by Musolino in his own doorway, and, after being disarmed, Musolino said to his would-be slayer:

"You are a poor man and tempted by money to try and betray me. I will have pity on you for your children's sake and spare you. But a lesson you must have."

Musolino then ordered him to stand away a few yards and shot him in the legs with birdshot. But, unfortunately, the man died.

In the meantime Zocalli, who had been the cause of Musolino's unjust imprisonment, upon hearing of the escape of his enemy, took refuge in a nearby village. Seeing that he could not get at Zocalli, Musolino took vengeance out of his family by killing the youngest brother of Zocalli and later burning his home and destroying his vineyards.

Zocalli, however, was a doomed man. Despite his precautions, he was unable to thwart the vengeance of his relentless pursuer. One evening he left his hiding place and cautiously made his way to church to confession. The next morning he was found dead with three stab wounds in his back and his face slashed and mutilated.

Later the priest of the church received a letter from Musolino, saying that it was he had committed the crime, but that he was sorry that Zoccali had been to confession and had obtained absolution. For this act Musolino was denounced by the priest, who aided considerably in trying to have the bandit captured.

Musolino had also many love affairs, to one of which there is attached particular interest.

Angela Perpiglia, a very beautiful peasant, was suspected of being the companion of the blood-stained bandit, and for this reason watch was kept on her by the gendarmes.

One night she was followed through the hills to a small hut. The hut was surrounded in the hope of capturing the bandit, but it was decided not to attack until morning, as it was feared that the gendarmes would shoot one another in the attempt.

But the plan miscarried. A dog had accompanied the soldiers and barked during the night, which warned Musolino, who escaped to the woods. His sweetheart and his sister were arrested and put in jail, charged with having aided and abetted the bandit's escape. Shortly afterward, the Prefect of Reggio received a letter stating that if the two prisoners were not set free that he would answer for their detention with his life. The threat had its desired effect and both girls were freed immediately.

It was shortly after this incident that Angela Perpiglia turned over her affections to Di Lorenzo, a friend and accomplice of Musolino, suspected of having given information leading to the capture of Musolino at Vrbino.

Musolino's arrest and trials are now matters of history, and the loss of his reason only adds another chapter to a career that is now rapidly coming to an end. A measure of public interest in Musolino was given when his memoirs, prepared before his trial, were sold by him for $20,000 and 20 per cent royalty, the highest price at that time ever paid in Europe for a manuscript.

A SQUARE-DEAL

Is assured you when you buy Dr. Pierce's family medicines—for all the ingredients entering into them are printed on the bottle-wrappers and these are attested under oath as being complete and correct. You know just what you are paying for and that the ingredients are gathered from Nature's laboratory, being selected from the most valuable native medicinal roots found growing in our American forests and while potent to cure are perfectly harmless—even to the most delicate women and children.

Not a drop of alcohol enters into their composition. A much better agent is used both for extracting and preserving the medicinal principles in them, viz.—pure triple-refined glycerine. This agent possesses intrinsic medicinal properties of its own, being a most valuable antiseptic and antiferment, nutritive and soothing demulcent.

Glycerine plays an important part in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia and weak stomach, attended by sour risings, heart-burn, foul breath, coated tongue, poor appetite, gnawing feeling in stomach, biliousness and kindred derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels.

Besides curing all the above distressing ailments, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a specific for all diseases of the mucous membranes, as catarrh, whether of the nasal passages or of the stomach, bowels or other organs. Even in its ulcerative stages it will yield to this sovereign remedy if its use be persevered in. In Chronic Catarrh of the Nasal passages, it is well, while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" for the necessary constitutional treatment, to cleanse the passages freely two or three times a day with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. This thorough course of treatment generally cures even the worst cases.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchial, throat and lung affections, except consumption, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most efficient remedy, especially in those obstinate, hang-on-coughs caused by irritation and congestion of the bronchial mucous membranes. The "Discovery" is not so good for acute coughs arising from sudden colds, nor must it be expected to cure consumption in its advanced stages—no medicine will do that—but for all the obstinate, chronic coughs, which, if neglected, or badly treated, lead up to consumption, it is the best medicine that can be taken.

To find out more about the above mentioned diseases and all about the body in health and disease, get the Common Sense Medical Adviser—the People's Schoolmaster in Medicine—revised and up-to-date book of 1000 pages—which treats of diseased conditions and the practical, successful treatment thereof. HE GOT BADLY "STUNG"

Well Known Sedalian Waited an Hour for His "Dater."

(From Sunday's Daily.)

A well known mechanic, employed by the Missouri Pacific railway, met his Waterloo Friday, in consequence of which he is considering the advisability of remaining in single blessedness during his mortal career.

Friday a popular Sedalia girl, personally acquainted with the man in question, called him by telephone, disguising her voice, and asking him if he would meet her at such and such a place at a certain hour.

The individual inquired the name of the speaker, but got no satisfaction, merely urging him to meet her at the designated place. He agreed to do so, and to distinguish himself from others he was to have a newspaper in his hand, waving it to and fro.

At the alloted hour the man was there, waving his paper without fear or favor. For an hour he waited, but no girl appeared. When patience ceased to be a virtue he sheepishly disappeared and now is trying to ascertain who the "naughty" girl is.

CHARGE OF VIOLATING LIQUOR LAW

Aged Detective, Posing as a Horse Buyer, Set a Trap By Which They Were Caught Winking at Lawlessness.

International News Service.

Crawford, Neb., Jan. 29.—Mayor P. C. Cooper, Councilmen Bruer and McDowell, and other city officials were placed under arrest here last night on charges of violating the 8 o'clock closing law, as the result of the work of an aged detective who was sent here by the State Civil league to ferret out reports that Crawford was being run wide open.

Frank Erdman, the detective in the case, is 75 years old, and posed as a horse trader. Erdman came to town last week and let it be known that he wanted to buy horses. He got into the good graces of Mayor Cooper and the councilmen, and for the next few days led a high old life, and incidentally made contracts to buy half the horses in the county. Tuesday Erdman left town for a few days, he said, and yesterday a sheriff from Chadron arrived here, bringing with him warrants for the city officials, several citizens and three saloonkeepers. All were taken to Chadron for trial on charges of violating the liquor laws.

(From Sunday's Daily)

An unknown intruder made two attempts to gain entrance to the home of John S. Bush, the American Express company messenger, 1012 South Missouri avenue, between 12 and 1 o'clock Saturday morning, but failed.

Mrs. Bush was alone at the time, her husband being at work. The intruder knocked repeatedly, and then tried to force open the door. A family watch dog heard the noise and ran to the front door, frightening away the man.

Fifteen minutes later he returned and again made an attempt to get into the house, but failed.

ANTI-TARIFF TALK

GERMAN-AMERICAN RELATIONS ARE APPROACHING SOMETHING LIKE CRISIS.

OUR MEATS CAUSE OF TROUBLE

They Are Now Excluded from Germany, and We Insist They Shall Be Admitted on Terms With the Other Countries.

BY STEVEN BURNETT.

International News Service.

Berlin, Jan. 29.—German American relations are approaching something like a crisis. By Feb. 7 the Fatherland and the United States may be plumped into something like a bitter tariff war. On that date the most favored nation modus vivendi, on which German-American tariff relations have rested for two years, will expire. Negotiations have been pending at Washington for months with a view to a new arrangement, which has been made necessary by the passage of the new American tariff law. It was hoped in Berlin that a simple understanding on the basis of both countries' lowest rates would enable them to enjoy another period of economic peace and friendship.

Matters, however, have been complicated by the insistence of America that its meat products, now excluded from Germany shall be admitted on terms of equality with meats from other countries. The Agrarian-dominated reischtag will not listen to this demand, and Dr. von Bethmann Hollweg's government will find it difficult to accede to it. Unless America gives way or Germany surrenders, both nations' "fighting tariffs" will automatically come into effect at midnight of Feb. 7, and the war will be on. The kaiser had all this in his restless mind when he flashed his New Year salutations to President Taft and gave fresh vent to his enthusiasm for an entente with America.

GOV. HASKELL AGAIN

Charged With Violating Constitution and State Laws.

Associated Press.

Guthrie, Ok., Jan. 29.—Charging Governor Haskell and other state officers with violation of the state constitution and the laws of the state in the manner in which public moneys have been expended, Representative Lester A. Harris, representing the republican minority, filed an affidavit in the lower house today.

In general, the charges against the governor are that he has mismanaged the public funds under his control, in whole or in part, and has wilfully and designedly authorized the misappropriation of said funds.

The affidavit alleges that O. T. Smith, the governor's law clerk; W. T. Hutchings, a Muskogee lawyer; W. B. Anthony, the governor's private secretary, and Lieutenant Governor George W. Ballamy are also involved in the alleged improper expenditure.

GLAVIS STILL ON STAND

Ex-Special Agent Tells How Ballinger Blocked His Plans.

International News Service.

Washington, Jan. 29.—Louis Glavis today continued his testimony before the joint congressional committee inquiring into the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy.

He declared among other things that Ballinger on one occasion instructed him not to pursue an investigation against Representative McLachlin, of California, who held a claim in the Green group of coal lands in Alaska.

The witness gave further details of his work in connection with fraud cases and said he once thought of resigning in order to give out facts to the press, but was advised not to do so, as it would make too much scandal at the beginning of Taft's administration.

Mr. Wyan has many friends who will regret to see him leave, but at the same time wish for him all possible success in his new home.

New Association Planned.

Charleston, Mo., Jan. 29.—A number of business men in Charleston are planning to organize a building and loan association. Under existing conditions there are not enough homes in the town to accommodate all who want to make their home here. It is thought that the new association will be of great benefit in building up the town as it will make it possible for people to build homes and pay for them on the installment plan.

FIRED OFF THE FIELD

NATIONAL LEAGUE PLAYERS WHO WERE BANISHED BY UMPIRES.

SENT 119 MEN TO THE CLUB HOUSE

Chicago Cub Had Kickers Who Were Fined the Most Money—Philadelphia Came Next, and Then Cincinnati.

New York, Jan. 31.—More National league players were ordered from the baseball field last year and later suspended than in several years past. Whether due to rowdyism or more stringent application of the rules by umpires, 119 men weer banished from the field and later eighteen of them were suspended by Presidents Heydler and Pulliam.

In 1908 the arbitrators ordered ninety-four players to the club house, and in 1907 112. The late Harry Pulliam suspended sixteen players in 1908 and eleven in 1907.

The Pittsburg team, which won the pennant, had the best behaved set of men. Only seven of its players were banished and none suspended. There was a great improvement in the deportment of the New York players, only seventeen of them being sent from the field and none of them being disciplined by the National's president.

Boston, Cincinnati and Philadelphia each had fifteen men removed: St. Louis and Brooklyn each seventeen, and Chicago eighteen. Of the eighteen players suspended, Chicago had two; Philadelphia, 3; Brooklyn and St. Louis, each four, and Cincinnati, five.

The players suspended were: Bresnahan, of St. Louis, four times; Griffith, of Cincinnati, and Lennox, of Brooklyn, each three times; Evers, of Chicago, and Gleason, of Philadelphia, each twice, and Bureau, of Brooklyn, Roth and Bescher, of Cincinnati, and Knabe, of Philadelphia, each once.

According to figures compiled by a local statistician, the National league players paid $285 into the treasury of the league. Of this amount Chicago players contributed $125; Philadelphia, $125 and Cincinnati $25.

Those fined were Chance, Evers, Tinker and Stanley, of Chicago; Doolan, Moren and Knabe, of Philadelphia, and Roth, of Cincinnati.

NEW HEAD'S RIGHT IDEA

Lynch Will Not Heed Club Owners' Protests.

New York, Jan. 31.—President Lynch says he will not make public the names of this year's National league umpires until he has signed them to formal contracts. Lynch will reserve the right to dismiss an umpire from the service as soon as he shows himself to be incompetent, and it is the new president's plan to travel over the circuit after the playing season opens, so that he can personally inspect the work of the men who render decisions.

Lynch will pay no attention to the protests of club owners, but will rely upon his own judgment as to the alleged incompetency of this or that official

KILLS WIFE AND HIMSELF

Farmer Believed to Have Been Temporarily Deranged.

Charleston, Ill., Jan. 31.—After taking his 1-year-old baby from its mother's arms and sending his 6-year-old child to the home of a neighbor, Claud Fred, a wealthy farmer, Saturday night shot and killed his wife, and, turning the revolver on himself, committed suicide.

The couple, so far as known, has had no domestic troubles, and Fred, who owned eighty acres of land, was considered to be in good circumstances.

HIGH LIVING RATES

ARCHBISHOP IRELAND SAYS THEY CAUSE PRESENT HIGH PRICES.

HE CRITICISES THE HOUSEWIFE

Prelate Says That a French Woman Can Prepare a Dainty Meal From the Waste of an American Cottage.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 31.—Declaring the social and moral salvation of America rests with the farmer, Archbishop John Ireland, the noted Roman Catholic prelate, sides with James J. Hill, and in declaring he is not oversorry for the conditions that have brought about the meat boycott he joins the ranks of those who believe with James J. Hill that high living is largely responsible for high prices. In an authorized statement Archbishop Ireland says:

"Of course, I like so many others, have had to pay some attention to the economic problems now agitating the community—the high price of living and the consequent boycott instituted against the use of meat. Good will come from the discussion—much good, in my opinion, though very likely not in the direction that many expect.

"That the price of meat as the result of the agitation and boycott will for some time fluctuate, today downward, tomorrow upward, we may readily admit. But that meat will fall back permanently to the low prices of former years I am not disposed to believe. My reasons for this assertion seem to be very plain and convincing. The chief cause of this rise in price lies with the producer—the farmer—and as my sympathy goes out to the farmer very warmly, I am not oversorry for the conditions we are witnessing.

"Heretofore, cattle were raised by the millions over vast and unoccupied ranges of prairies, but the dav of these ranges has passed. Cattle must now be raised on the small farm, seven or eight head by each farmer. The farmer formerly was more easily satisfied with the result of his toil—too easily, in my opinion, as he did not receive his due reward. Because of this comparatively unremunerative task, the cry was, more or less, away from the land. Today the farmer is more enlightened on the general economic conditions of the country, and he demands his own.

"The salvation of America, social and moral, political and economic, is the farm. Where agriculture is not prized, is neglected, the nation must decay. The efforts of philanthropists and well wishers of their fellowmen, all tend toward encouraging agriculture. The population of America has been in ever ydecade increasing by leaps and bounds. There has been no proportionate increase in the number of farmers. Hundreds of thousands, seeking in vain employment in cities, hundreds of thousands eking out there a bare existence to their own great detriment, and to the yet greater deriment of their families, should be out upon the land, where comfort and peace await them. But that all this comes to happen, we must not begrudge the farmer his due reward for his work.

"We eat too much meat in America. the laws of prudent hygiene teach us this lesson. The requirements of health and strength would be better served were we to eat less meat and turn to articles of food much cheaper and no less conducive—it not more so—to bodily and mental vigor.

"I quite agree with the statement lately made by Mr. J. J. Hill, that it is not so much a question of the high price of living as it is a question of the price of high living. When it comes to the purchase of meat, everyone wishes to be in the fashion and demands the choicest cuts. These are far from being better and healthier food than others less costly but less fashionable. Certain housewives, whose deposits in the savings banks are of the lightest kind, if deposits at all they have, would, when marketing, be ashamed to call for any kind of meat that would not demand a high price.

"And then, in the manner of living, among rich and poor, in America, there is dreadful waste and extravagance resulting from ignorance of housekeeping, and especially of the almost totally neglected art of cooking. It has often been said, and said with much truth, that a housewife in France could prepare the daintiest meal for her guests from the waste of an American cottage. Americans do not know how to save in cooking, and what they do cook they do not know how to prepare in a manner to make it palatable and health-giving. A social and economic revolution would in a short time be wrought out in America if young women were thoroughly taught the practice of housekeeping and good cooking."

May Be Placed in Sedalia.

Officers of the Missouri Pacific railroad have decided to maintain the model five-acre farm in minature which was a feature of the Land congress at Springfield, Mo., last week.

Just where the minature farm will be placed is not known. It is likely that either the farm used here or one like it will be placed at the Missouri state fair in Sedalia in October.

EAT HORSE FLESH

TWO SLAUGHTER HOUSES ARE DOING GOOD BUSINESS IN CHICAGO, ILL.

MOST OF THE PRODUCT SHIPPED

It Goes to Copenhagen, Denmark—The Sale In This Country Is Confined to Circuses, Who Feed It to the Animals.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 31.—The discovery that horses are being butchered in Cook county for human food has led to a series of investigations on the part of the Illinois state food commission to discover where the food is sold.

In spite of the claim of the horse killers that their product is exported to Copenhagen, Denmark, Inspector Frank J. Hoey, of the commission, gives his opinion in an official report just made, that part of the horse meat at least is sold in cheap restaurants and free lunch saloons in Chicago.

The investigation resulted in the discovery of two horse slaughter houses, one of which was in operation Sunday when visited by Inspector Hoey and Harrison Kennicott. The proprietor made no pretense that he was butchering anything but horses, but insisted the meat was for circuses and for export. Thirty barrels of cured and salted horse meat were found at his place.

Business was good at Charles Beigel's place yesterday. Beigel's sentry saw the inspectors turn from the road toward the slaughter house and came to meet them. The visitors insisted on being shown the plant, and the sentry reluctantly opened the door.

Dressed meat from twenty horses was hanging in the cooling room. Tairty barrels filled with cured horse meat, ready for shipment, were found in the pickling rooms. In the principal workroom a huge kettle of hot water was boiling over a fire, where men had been preparing casings to be used on sausage.

Beigel's explanation was that he was killing merely to supply circuses with food for animals. He explained he furnished meats for two circuses during winter. On several of the quarters were cards, upon which was written: "Norris & Rowe, Circus, Evansville, Ind."

In an old barn three freshly slaughtered horses were hanging from the rafters. The two halves of each carcass were as neatly severed as the best beeves in a packing house.

"You take a great deal of pains with them," Inspector Hoey remarked.

"They are for Ringling Bros. circus," the packer said. "I ship them forty quarters every two weeks. They are wintering at Baraboo, Wis."

The inspector pointed out that something had been gnawing on one side of a carcass, which was in contact with one of the posts supporting the roof of the barn.

"Those pesky rats have been at it and spoiled it," Beigel said, as he saw the marks, "but it doesn't matter. It is for animals anyway."

"You have cut the tenderloins out. What do you do with them?"

"We eat them ourselves. That is the best meat of the horse."

Examination revealed the fact that the tenderloins had been removed from every one of the slaughtered carcasses.

Beigel denied that any of the slaughtered animals were sold in America for human food. He said the shipments were made to the circuses and that each shipment was marked "Animal Food; Not for Human Use." The meat, he said, was loaded into box cars without packing.

The inspector wanted to know if any of the meat was being cured or smoked, and in the main packing house found a room with curing vats full of meat cut into convenient sizes. On every side were barrels of meat, sometimes packed one on top of the other, which had been cured and salted. Some of the barrels were open and others were covered loosely.

"That is to be shipped to Copenhagen, Denmark," Beigel explained. "That is the best market in Europe. None of it is sold in this country."

In another room were bundles of casings for sausages. They had been washed and salted. The packer said these also went to Copenhagen. Then the animal pens were visited, but the morning "kill" had emptied these.

WELCOMED BY BANDS

Capt. Shipp Completes Sentence for Connection With Lynching.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Jan. 31.—With bands playing "Dixie" and "Home, Sweet Home," Capt. Joseph F. Shipp was greeted here at 6 o'clock last evening by 10,000 of his fellow citizens when he alighted from the train that bore him to his home from Washington, where he had just completed a sentence in prison for contempt of court in connection with the lynching of Ed Johnson, a negro.

The band struck up "Dixie" as the train pulled in, and instantly the surging throng was in a state of wildest enthusiasm. There was imminent danger for a time of a panic and possible injury to women and children.

As Captain Shipp walked slowly down the length of the shed he was greeted by his aged wife, who sobbed quietly upon his breast for a moment. This greeting over, the bands played "Home, Sweet Home," and again pandemonium broke forth.

Ex-Deputy Sheriff Nick Nolan and Lyther Williams returned with their former chief, and they, too, were given much attention.

LEAVES TRAIL OF DEATH

Flyer Kills Three and Injures Two at Crossings.

Mansfield, O., Jan. 31.—Pennsylvania train No. 9, westbound, yesterday struck and killed Mrs. Roy Covert and fatally injured her husband at a crossing near Loudenville.

Proceeding further, the train struck an automobile on the outskirts of Crestline, a few miles away, and killed J. H. Sigler, 60 years old, and Charles Echelberger, both of Hays vil'e.

In the automobile with Echelberger and Sigler was Curtiss Doerrer, of Mansfield. Doerrer's shoulder was crushed, his leg broken and he received internal injuries.

The young woman, who was the first to meet death on the tracks, was on her way with Covert, her husband, to visit a neighbor. Her death was instantaneous. Covert was picked up many yards away, and does not know of his wife's death.

WERE BOUND AND GAGGED

Six Persons Held in Connection With a Cincinnati Woman's Murder.

Cincinnati, Jan. 31. — Detectives have arrested six persons on suspicion in connection with the death of Mrs. Jesse Van Zandt, whose body, bound and gagged and literally roasted over a gas stove, was found in the kitchen of her home Saturday.

The detectives say that Jesse Van Zandt, husband of the murdered woman, who is being held on suspicion, spent considerable time recently with Agnes Berry, sister of one of the men arrested, and that it is believed their testimony will develop something on which a formal charge against Van Zandt can be based.

S.S.S. PURELY VEGETABLE

The safest medicines are those which leave the system in the best condition after their use. This is one of the principal virtues we claim for S. S. S. Being made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, it is not in even the smallest degree harmful to any system, but on the other hand its vegetable ingredients make it one of the finest of tonics to build up the health in every way. A great many blood medicines contain strong mineral ingredients which unfavorably affect the bowels, stomach or digestive system, and any blood-purifying effect they might have is therefore offset by their injurious action on the general health. S. S. S. is the one safe and sure blood purifier. It goes into the circulation and rids the blood of every impurity or pollution. It strengthens the circulation and adds nourishing properties to the blood and greatly assists in the cure of any blood disease. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison and all like diseases, because it purifies the circulation. S. S. S. may be taken by young or old with absolute safety, and with the assurance that it will cure all diseases and disorders due to an impure or poisoned blood supply, even reaching down and removing hereditary taints. Book on the blood and any medical advice free to all who write.

THE POPE IN FEAR

AN INTERESTING DISCUSSION IN REGARD TO RINGING THE NOON ANGELUS.

TURK OR A COMET RESPONSIBLE?

It Was From the Mid-Day Angelus That Millet Drew Inspiration for His Famous Picture—King of Belgium.

BY MARQUIS DE CASTELLANE

International News Service.

Paris, Jan. 29.—An interesting discussion has arisen between Camille Flammarian, the astronomer, and Abbe Moreau regarding "The Noon Angelus." Flammarian claims it was ordered by Pope Calixtus III, because his holiness was frightened by the Halley comet. And in all conscience the good pope might well have been frightened. For the tail of the comet of 1456 was well night sixty degrees in length. In other words, this terrible comet has a tail as long as one-sixth of the circumference of the planet we inhabit.

So, according to "Flam," (as the delightful Madame Flammarian endearingly calls her celebrated husband) the pope ordered all the church bells to be rung at noon and the Angelic salutation to be said in honor of the Incarnation. Hitherto it was only said morning and evening.

Abbe Moreau contends that the mid-day Angelus was due, not to fear of the long-tailed comet, but through fear of the unspeakable Turk. The pope was in dread of the progress of Mohammet II, who boasted he meant to stable his horses in Saint Peter's in Rome.

The Abbe Moreau denies Camille Flammarian's assertion and quotes from many books to prove his case. The astronomer on the other hand flings at the Abbe's tonsured head the colossal work of Lubinietz, which contain 1526 pages and is three and one-half feet high.

My own opinion is that both the Abbe and the astronomer are right; for it seems the pope feared the head of the Turk quite as much as the tail of the comet. At all events it was from the mid-day Angelus that Millet drew his inspiration for his famous picture, and that was well worth while. Whether the Turk or the comet was responsible is a matter of small moment now.

King Albert, of Belgium, who has already made a very good impression upon his newly acquired subjects, chiefly by his oratorical powers, inherits many of his talents from his mother, the Duchess of Flanders. This remarkable woman, in addition to her knowledge of statecraft, is an artist of no mean ability. Among other famous paintings, she has just completed a series of sketches of the beautiful forest of Arden, where "Rosalind," "Sylvia" and "Touchstone" wandered in search of adventure. These sketches she is about to publish in an album in direct competiton to many of her son's subjects, who have done the same thing.

Now is this quite fair, I wonder? Suppose these subjects should set themselves up as kings and queens instead of just mere painters? What then? Would not royalty protest, and with good reason? I think so. My own humble opinion is that our kings and queens should be satisfied to fulfill the functions of their royal profession and not encroach upon that of their faithful subjects.

As an inducement to would-be purchasers, the Countess of Flanders attaches her royal signature to each book. Last year Queen Alexandra, of England, did the same thing. She published a similar album and on each book appears her royal handwriting. Now who will save the painter folk from these commercial kings and queens? Already the suffragettes are citing the talents of these royal ladies as an argument in favor of votes for women. I myself don't see the connection. Tennyson says "Woman is the lesser man." All things and all countries considered, I think it begin to look as though she might become the "greater man."

Prince Haus, of Denmark, is seriously ill. Should he die his demise will mean mourning for nearly every kingdom of Europe. So wide are his connections he is familiarly known as "The Uncle of Europe." For a similar reason his brother, the late King Christian, was known as the "Father-in-law of Europe."

Prince Hans is uncle of Queen Alexandra, of England; of the Dowager Empress of Russia; of the Duchess of Cumberland; of the King of Denmark, and of King George, of Greece. He is the great-uncle of King Haakon, of Norway.

Prince Hans de Glucksbourg is 85 years old. Though he has children of his own, Uncle Hans is a great favorite with his nephews and nieces, and they never forget to send him Christmas and New Year's gifts. He preaches the simple doctrines of the Danes to his illustrious relatives, but King George, of Greece, prefers more complicated French civilzation. Well, everyone to his taste.

It was a good omen for Ambassador Bacon that he presented his credentials to President Fallieres on the same day as the Minister of Siam, of the land of the Morning Calm. But experience proves that America does not really need any ambassador. First secretaries are sufficient. Colonel Bailly Blanchard has done all the work of the embassy since Henry White went home. Ridgely Carter did it in London while Whitelaw Reid went visiting. Ambassador Leishman spends as much of his time in Paris as in Rome. Young Hitt did the work admirably in Berlin for three months during Dr. David Jayne Hill's absence in America.

International questions are settled in Washington, leaving to embassys chiefly the making out of passports and engineering social functions. The former falls to the office of the first secretary; the, latter is mostly the ladies' office. President Taft would do well to consider the attainments, not so much of ambassadors, as of their wives. It might, therefore, come about that the ugly regulation dress suit would give way to the handsome court costume of European diplomats.

Whitelaw Reid had the good sense to distinguish himself from his lackeys by wearing knee breeches and buckles at court functions at the embassy. The American ambassador in Russia covers himself with golden lace. I believe Ambassador Hill has reverted to evening dress, although Charlemange Towers' blue surtout was a joy to the aesthetic eye.

Years ago I met at a diplomatic gathering an American minister called Grub. He hailed from the discreet and sober city of Philadelphia. But his diplomatic costume was a uniform of the city guards. I marvel America does not provide suitable diplomatic dress for its officials in foreign countries, where court costume is obligatory.

Mrs. John Jacoz Hoff, wife of the Standard Oil representative in Paris and daughter of the late Commodore Whitney, of Detroit, has just finished the restoration of the most famous chateau in France. Mrs. Whitney Hoff, as she is popularly called, paid $200,000 for the property. Originally it was a fortress, with many watch towers. Around the chateau is a magnificent park. It is known as the Chateau Preiux and is near Aix-les-Bains on the banks of the Rhine.

Mrs. Hoff is spending part of the winter in the country. Her daughter, Mrs. Labouchere, has taken her place in the social life of Paris.

Speaking of chateaux, reminds me that at the present time two American chatelaines are offering their properties for sale. The widow of Col. Theodore A. Dodge, president of the American Club of Paris, is selling the Chateau de Rosiere, which is about twenty miles from Paris; and the widow of Edmund Kelly, formerly counsellor to the American embassy, is offering for sale her beautiful estate, together with the chateau known as Concy-le-Chateau.

SUIT IS SENSATIONAL

That Filed by Mrs. Eva W. Lopp in Circuit Court Saturday.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

Mrs. Eva W. Lopp, wife of D. A. Lopp, the contractor, through Attorneys Bente & Wilson, instituted suit in circuit court Saturday against A. J. Hogan, George Emo and G. S. Mosely, doing business under the firm name of the Home Realty company, making a rather startling accusation in the petition.

The plaintiff alleges that the defendants had been engaged by her to sell a tract of land in Cedar county, owned by her, and that they consummated a deal with M. C. Jarvis, of Benton county.

The plaintiff further states that there was a cash difference of $300, which they appropriated to their own use, without letting her know there was any such difference.

HENDRICKS IS JAILED

Railway Switchman Who Recently Deserted Family.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

"Bob" Hendricks, a railway switchman, was arraigned before Justice J. B. Rickman Saturday, charged with lewd conduct with Minnie Stewart.

He was fined $25 and costs and was remanded to the county jail to serve the fine. In addition to that imposed yesterday, Hendricks must serve time for a similar fine and costs and also an additional 100 days' jail sentence, which had been imposed on him by the same justice several days previously for abandoning his family.

The Stewart woman was fined $5 and costs, a total of $21. She was given until February 10 to pay.

A charge of carrying concealed weapons is still pending against Hendricks.

Skidmore Gets Second Place.

Skidmore, Mo. Jan. 29.—Over 100 cars of apples have been shipped from Skidmore the past few months, which gives it second place in the list for shipments from Nodaway county. Maryville claims first place, as 136 cars of apples were shipped from there. W. M Howden has done most of the shipping from Skidmore, as he has sent out about fifty cars during the fall and winter.

HAS BEGUN TO FALL

THE PARIS FLOOD WATERS REACHED THE MAXIMUM HEIGHT SATURDAY.

WATER IS NOW SLOWLY RECEDING

Conditions in the Great City Are Indescribable—Chaos Reigns and Much Suffering From Cold and Hunger.

International News Service.

Paris, Jan. 29.—The great flood reached its maximum today at thirty-one feet one inch, and now has begun to fall slowly. The River Marne is falling the most quickly, registering a drop of forty-four inches. The general situation in the city has much improved. The water in the streets has risen slightly, owing to the bursting of sewers and water mains, but the weather is fine and the authorities are optimistic, and they believe the worst is now over. The declaration of a siege is not now necessary.

Here is an epitome of the damage wrought by the waters and conditions throughout the inundated sections of the city: Traffic is suspended entirely on the following streets: Cours La Reine, Rue Mazarine, Rue De Bourgogne, Rue De L'Universite, Rue Des Saints Peres, Rue De Bac, Rue Bonaparte, Rue D'Auteuil, Rue De Grenelle, Rue De Lille, Rue St. Antaine, Rue De Faubourg, Rue De Seine, Boulevards St. Germaine and Haussmann, Rue De Havre, Rue Montaigne and Rue Royale.

Commercial activty in almost every walk of life is paralyzed. The country roads in the valley of the Seine and for miles about Paris are impassable.

The following bridges are closed: Solferino, Alma, Royal, Arcole and Saints Peres. All telephone service has been discontinued, railroad traffic is practically at a standstill, telegraph wires badly crippled, the subway service paralyzed and all surface lines abandoned. Electricity for lighting and other purposes has been cut off.

The caving in of Place de Lacoporde and lower Champs Elysees is imminent. Mail is being delivered in boats. Hundreds of soldiers, policemen, firemen and civians are throwing up dams of cement. The Convent of St. Sulpice shelters many refugees and homeless persons.

Fuel and food prices have soared to famine rates. The Saint Lazare railroad station is surrounded by water and not a train can enter. The suffering from cold and hunger is intense. Only the highest quarters of the city are unaffected.

Robert Wynne, formerly American consul general at London, was on the train, but escaped unhurt. The cause of the accident has not as yet been officially assigned.

REEDER LANDS GOOD JOB

Was Former Employe of the Missouri Pacific Here.

(From Sunday's Daily)

Harry C. Reeder, formerly with the civil engineering department of the Missouri Pacific, who recently removed with his wife and baby daughter, Elizabeth, to Phoenix, Arizona has been appointed division engineer for the Southern Pacific railway, with headquarters at Phoenix, and will have charge of the engineering work from Maricopa to Phoenix on the main line, and also on the branch lines in that immediate territory.

He will have two assistants, and is elated at his good luck in his new home.

Mrs. Reeder writes that she likes Phoenix "immensely." She was sitting on the front porch writing, she said in a letter to home folks, and the baby was playing in the yard.

They have three different times at Phoenix — Mountain, used by the Santa Fe; Pacific, which the Southern Pacific uses, and city time, which is different.

Mrs. Reeder had a pleasant visit a few days ago from Mrs. Norton and her daughter, Helen, who are spending the winter at Phoenix, and also met Mother Emma, who was Mrs. Reeder's teacher at Sacred Heart school here some eighteen years ago.

There are more handsome automobiles in Phoenix, Mrs. Reeder writes, than in any city of like size she has ever visited. The only disagreeable feature at Phoenix is the water, which contains so much alkali that it tastes like soda water.

A STATELY OFFICE

DUCHESS OF BUCCLEUCH HAS RESIGNED AS MISTRESS OF ROBES TO QUEEN.

KNOWS ABOUT 'COURT ETIQUETTE'

The Haughtiest and Most Exclusive Member of British Aristocracy Has Held the Position Since 1885.

International News Service.

London, Jan. 29.—The Duchess of Buccleuch, the haughtiest and most exclusive member of the British aristocracy, has definitely resigned her stately office as mistress of the robes to Queen Alexandra, but she has consented to remain at her post until the new parliament assembles.

The duchess has held the position since 1885, and in her time has awed hundreds of shy debutantes at court functions. She knows every little detail about court etiquette, and is even more punctilious concerning those small matters than either the king or the queen.

Though possessing immense dignity and being outwardly haughty, the duchess is a very gracious and kind hostess at her own place in Scotland, and at her recent golden wedding celebration, when she was surrounded by many children and grandchildren, a member of the house party remarked enthusiastically that the duchess was, after all, "just a good old motherly sort."

Queen Alexandra has absolute power to choose her own household, and the government cannot interfere in any way. Her majesty is hesitating between the Marchioness of Salisbury and the Marcnioness of Ripon, better known as Lady de Grey.

The latter is the queen's most intimate friend, but, although devoted to the queen, she does not care to be tied down by court functions, being a great traveler and something of a Bohemian, so that probably Lady Salisbury will accept the office.

In the old days the appointments in the royal household were political, but the late Queen Victoria made such a determined fight about the point that her ministers gave in, and now, with the exception of such positions as the master of the horse and one or two other posts, the king and queen can choose their own household.

Only two ex-mistresses of the robes are alive. Louise, Duchess of Devonshire, who, as Duchess of Manchester, filled the post in 1858, and the Dowages Duchess of Roxburghe, who held the office in 1884.

Marchioness of Ripon.

MISS OPAL EVANS.

SCARLET FEVER IN ACADEMY

Two Sedalia Young Ladies Return Home to Escape Epidemic.

Misses Mary McEniry and Maytie Bertche, student at Mt. Carmel academy at Wichita, Kas., who came home Thursday for a three weeks' vacation, will not return to the institution until the scarlet fever scare, which is now predominating at the school, subsides.

Less than a fortnight ago the disease manifested itself and a week ago today a young lady from Independence, Kas., died from the fever. The lady was 19 years of age and was a member of Miss McEniry's class. The latter, with five others, had been exposed to the disease.

On learning of the death of the girl thirty-five students of the school left for their homes, fearing the disease might have taken a hold on others, after which the president of the school ordered a three weeks' vacation, pending the result of the students being exposed to the fever.

Mt. Carmel academy has a membership of two hundred.

WILL ERECT A NEW HOME

Rev. Fr. Christian Daniel Is to Be Busy This Summer.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

The Rev. Fr. Christian Daniel, formerly first assistant pastor of Sacred Heart church here, but now pastor of St. Augustine's church at Rensselaer, Ind., writes to a friend here as follows, under date of January 28:

"The long winter makes me somewhat lonesome, yet signs of spring will soon make me think of work for the coming summer. It is my intention to erect a new home for myself in town, and we are now taking up a subscription for that purpose. Am feeling well and desire to be remembered to all my Missouri friends."

Sedalia never had a more popular priest than the Rev. Fr. Christian Daniel, and every acquaintance who knows him is confident that he will have no trouble in raising the necessary funds for the erection of a new parochial residence.
